State Approves $11,084 More for Crossing

The State Public Service Commission today approved an additional expenditure of $11,084 for construction work in eliminating the crossing of Broadway and the tracks of the New York Central Railroad in Kingston. The project, which the PSC said was 80 per cent completed on January 1, will cost an estimated total of $2,326,000. The bulk of the expense will be borne by the state. The above photo shows approximately 200 feet of Broadway remaining to be covered with concrete before traffic can pass. Other work has to be completed on nearby streets before the project is finished. (Freeman photo)

WouldKeep Controls for Two Years

Wilson Says Wage Line Must Be Held Along With Prices to Beat Inflation

Deals With Costs

Truman Plan Endorsed to Keep Firms From Passing on Increases

Washington, March 4 (AP)—Mobilization Chief Charles E. Wilson today urged Congress to extend price and wage controls for two years.

"We cannot hold back inflation unless we hold down prices," Wilson told the Senate Banking Committee, adding that "conversely, we cannot hold down prices unless we hold the wage line."

Wilson told the Senators there has been "some easing" of shortages in such materials as copper and aluminum but he said it is still too early to know for certain whether this "easing" will continue.

At the same time the Defense Production Administration announced it will allot 30 million more pounds of aluminum and up to 25 million additional pounds of copper to civilian industries during the three-month period of April through June.

DPA boss Manly Fleischmann said the agency will decide this week which industries should get the metals. The allocation was made possible, he said, because of the return of surplus metal by the military and because orders of some companies were not as high as expected.

First Witness

The mobilization boss was the kickoff witness as the Senate opened public hearings to decide whether or not to extend the defense production act, which authorizes price and wage controls.

The act expires at midnight June 30. If Congress doesn't extend it before then, all price and wage controls would be ended.

Wilson said "no present easing of a shortage here or there, no decrease in some prices, should make us throw away the keys to our security.

"At least two more years of hard work are ahead of us before we reach our present goals of military strength and productive power."

Wilson endorsed President Truman's appeal to wipe out the Capehart Amendment—which permits manufacturers to pass their post-Korea cost increases on to the public—and the Herlong Amendment — which guarantees merchants their margins over cost.

These amendments were tacked onto the act when it was passed last year.

Will Hear From 75

The Banking Committee expects to hear about 75 witnesses. Some members say they expect Congress to vote to continue controls, but that there'll be some loosening of regulations.

Wilson reports that "over-all stability is now being maintained" on the economic front.

He said prices have remained

Asks China, Russia to Drop Hate

Truman Makes Dramatic Appeal to People of Both Nations to Get Rulers on Peace Line

Reminds of Aid

President Points Out How U. S. Helped Two Nations During War

Washington, March 4 (AP)—In a dramatic peace broadcast, President Truman today appealed to the people of Russia and Red China to force their rulers to drop "their senseless policy of hate and terror."

The President spoke from the flight deck of the Voice of America's powerful new floating transmitter, the U. S. Coast Guard Cutter "Courier" berthed at a city pier.

He addressed his words especially to the people of China and Russia, reminding them how the United States came to their aid in World War 2 when they were invaded by Nazi Germany and Japan.

"We helped them to save their countries," the President said. "I want to say to these people today, as we said then: We are your friends. There are no differences between us that can not be settled if your rulers will turn from their senseless policy of hate and terror, and follow the principles of peace.

Forced to Arm

"Today, the aggressive policies of your rulers are forcing us to arm to defend ourselves. But we can not find in our hearts any hate against you. We know that you are suffering under oppression and persecution. We know that if you were free to say what you really believe, you would join with us to banish the fear of war, and bring peace to the earth.

"Your government, with its newspapers and radios, may try to make you believe that the United States is a hostile country, bent on war. But that is not true. I want you to know that our highest aim is peace and friendship—and an end to the horrors of war."

The State Department said Mr. Truman's voice was heard in Europe, Latin America and the Far East. Relay stations at Tangier, Munich, Ceylon, Manila, Honolulu and facilities of the British Broadcasting Company beamed the message to listeners in all parts of the world via 37 transmitters. Immediately following the President's English language broadcast, the message was being translated into 45 languages for rebroadcast.

Equally Divided

Concord, N. H., March 4 (AP)—The good Republicans of this snowcrusted state capital held a reasonable facsimile of a New England political town meeting last night. Surprised, but secretly pretty pleased with the national hubbub caused by their March 11 primary, 800 of them turned out to hear two presidential candidates and four proxies talk about "The man who . . ." They divided their applause—as they may divide their votes in the state's popularity contest preference primary next week—about equally between advocates for Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio and Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Wicks Bill Approved

Albany, N. Y., March 4 (AP)—The Senate approved unanimously today a bill to strip the U. S. Trotting Association of sweeping powers in New York and vest them in State Harness Racing Commission. The bill was sent to the Assembly for expected approval. The Harness Racing Commission now licenses tracks. The USTA, a private corporation, licenses owners, drivers, trainers and such personnel as starters. It collects and retains the fees. The Wicks bill would give this licensing power and fees to the state commission.

2,500 Homes in Japan Destroyed by 'Quake, Tidal Waves; 31 Dead

Warehouses Toppled, Nine Big Fires Are Started by Disaster on North Island

No Americans Hurt

Two Cavalry Divisions Turn to Rescue Work Under Orders

Tokyo, March 4 (AP)—A terrifying earthquake and tidal waves killed at least 31 people in northern Japan today, injured hundreds and destroyed more than 2,500 homes.

Railway trains were toppled over. Rail lines were reported swallowed by great fissures. A coal mine partially collapsed.

Harbor facilities were badly damaged at Kushiro, a port city of 68,000 on the southeast coast of Hokkaido Island. Kushiro was the center of destruction.

Most of the dead were in and near the town, on Japan's most northerly island. Tidal waves knocked down warehouses. The quake touched off 11 fires.

People Buried Alive

Nine people were buried alive by a landslide.

The quake was general north of Tokyo. Tokyo itself was not damaged.

The U. S. First Cavalry Division is stationed on Hokkaido and the U. S. 24th Division is in northern Honshu.

They reported no Americans injured. Under orders of Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, the divisions turned their facilities to aid the stricken and homeless.

The quake struck at 10:24 a. m. (8:24 p. m. Monday EST).

Seismologists at American Universities reported it was one of the most severe in the world in half a century.

Worst Since 1950

Columbia University said it was the worst since Aug. 15, 1950, when a quake shook Assam, India. That was the biggest in 50 years. The Japanese quake was about the same intensity.

In Massachusetts Weston College reported it "the strongest earthquake" in a decade. University of California scientists called it "tremendous."

American seismologists said the shock was centered 60 miles below the floor of the Pacific ocean.

Tokyo meteorologists located the center as 43 miles east of Cape Erimo on South Central Hokkaido.

Some points were hit by as many as eight tidal waves. At other points the sea rose as much as five feet.

Waves Cover Island

At Hachinohe, on the northeast coast of Honshu, five tidal waves swept inland. Each was larger than the one before. Then, nearly four hours after the quake, "the sea receded greatly" Tokyo meteorologists said.

Sketchy reports said most of the damage was done along the eastern coast of Hokkaido facing the epicenter of the quake.

The U. S. Army reported 1,002 houses were destroyed at Shiranuka, 400 at Kiritappu, 400 at Hamanka. Other reports said 200 houses were demolished at Obihiro, 150 at Urakawa. The town of Nemuro reported 1,200 persons homeless.

18 Villages Swamped

Eighteen fishing villages were inundated. Tidal waters swept 20 fishing boats away at Kawaguchi in northern Honshu, the main is-

France Told to 'Do Her Duty'

Secretary of State Dean Acheson (right) confers with Sen. Tom Connally (D.-Tex.), chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, before reporting on recent NATO meetings in Lisbon. After the session, Connally warned France that she must do her utmost in her own defense "or she cannot justify large appropriations from the United States." (NEA Telephoto).

DeGaulle Shadow Is Cast Over French Political Scene

Assembly Votes Arms, Refuses to Raise Taxes; Looks to United States

Paris, March 4 (AP)—The lanky figure of Gen. Charles De Gaulle cast a lengthening shadow over French politics today as Independent Antoine Pinay tried to patch a new cabinet of experts from the ill-fitting jig-saw pieces of France's non-Communist parties.

Few observers gave Pinay—transport minister in the lame duck government of Edgar Faure any better chance of success than his predecessors.

Jaunty wartime Premier Paul Reynaud already had failed to stitch together what Pinay is seeking—a national union government of technicians drawn from all parties except the Communists. Rene Pleven, still smarting from the defeat which threw him out of office in January, refused even to make the try.

The crisis was in its fifth day. It began because the Assembly voted 1,400 billion francs (about four billion dollars) for arms—including expanded defense of western Europe—then refused a 15 per cent tax boost to help pay the bill.

Look to U. S.

Some French deputies already were talking about asking the United States for still more aid to pay France's defense bill. But in Washington, Chairman Tom Connally (D.-Tex.) of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, angrily thundered that unless France does "her utmost in her own defense, she cannot justify large appropriations from the United States for both economic and military aid."

De Gaulle Chances Brighten

The longer the crisis dragged on—with bleeding of the nearly empty treasury unstopped by new taxes—the better De Gaulle's chances seemed of getting into power.

His party, the RPF (Rally of the French People), which has the largest membership in Parliament, has decided it is ready to join in talks for a national union to meet the growing crisis. Should it gain a dominant voice in a new cabinet, it undoubtedly would cause a major upheaval in present French foreign policy.

De Gaulle already has called for sweeping changes in the major western defense programs to which France has recently committed herself.

The RPF vigorously opposed the Schuman plan for pooling western Europe's coal and steel industries. It also opposes the one-uniform European army, proposed by France as a method of bringing Germany into European defense without risking another German conquest of France.

Proposes Confederation

De Gaulle instead has proposed—in vague terms—a confederation of Europe "with each country retaining the right to its own forces but each country bound to another by precise mutual understandings so that no one can seek hegemony (domination) over the others."

He believes the United States is

Red Cross Drive To Be Discussed

Directors Meet Tomorrow to Talk About $46,000 Quota, Membership

A meeting of the board of directors of the Ulster County Chapter, American Red Cross, will be held at the chapter house Wednesday evening at 7:45 o'clock. All members of the board are asked to attend as very important business will come before the session.

Among the matters to be discussed are the annual Red Cross membership campaign and the fund raising program which is now going on.

Ulster county's share in the 1952 "neighbor-helping-neighbor" job of the American Red Cross this year is $46,400, a great portion of which will be spent directly here in Ulster county for the numerous services which the Red Cross renders.

For Broad Program

This money which is being sought through the volunteer efforts of approximately 600 Red Cross workers is for the blood program, services to the armed forces and veterans, disaster emergency relief and rehabilitation.

Under the leadership of Howard C. St. John, fund chairman, the Red Cross membership enrollment started on Saturday, March 1, and will be continued through the month of March. The solicitor who calls at homes is not out to beg for money. He or she is a paying member of the Red Cross, recruiting other members.

"The Red Cross has been described as people helping people. It represents something we do together for the mutual benefit of all," St. John said.

Kefauver Defends Truman's Efforts to Clean Government

Woman Says President Sets Tone for Lack of Sensitivity to Corruption

Philadelphia, March 4 (AP)—Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn.) defended the administration's house - cleaning efforts last night after two Republican senators sharply criticized President Truman in connection with corruption in government.

Sen. Margaret Chase Smith (R-Me.), the Senate's lone woman member, said "all of us" are to blame to some extent for the wrongdoing. Then she added. "the President of the United States himself has set the tone for the lack of sensitivity to corruption in government."

Sen. Cain (R-Wash.) declared the President, in his defense of some persons around him, "has acted as the front man for too many people who have taken advantage of him."

Kefauver—who is seeking the Democratic presidential nomination—retorted that Democrats exposed the wrongdoing in government and have taken on the job of cleaning their own house. He insisted the administration must be given credit for the job being done.

To Hear about Conference

This exchange came during the opening session of the Philadelphia Bulletin's sixth annual forum which will hear a report tonight on the progress made in building up the defense forces in western Europe from Lt. Gen. Lauris Norstadt. Norstadt is commander of the allied air forces under Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

W. Averell Harriman, director of the mutual security program, is scheduled to discuss the recent Lisbon conference on the rearming of western Europe.

Debating the subject "How Can We Get Integrity in Government?", Kefauver insisted that when the Democrats complete their investigations "we will have the honesty and integrity we must have."

Three Speeders Are Arrested in Area of School

10-Mile Limit in Force at Washington School; Two Fined, One Jumps Bail

The Kingston Police Department yesterday and today made the first two arrests of motorists accused of speeding through the 10-mile an hour zone surrounding the newly-opened George Washington School in uptown Kingston.

The department had previously confined its activities to warning motorists who exceeded the limit voted by the Common Council for the safety of the children attending the city's newest and largest elementary school.

Arrested at 11:15 a. m. Monday was Ivan Massell, 29, of 59 West Pierpont street, charged by Patrolman Guernsey Burger, Jr., with driving 25 miles an hour on Washington avenue near the school. Massell posted $10 bail, which he forfeited by not appearing in city court this morning.

Judge Gives Warning

Abram Black, 36, of Kerhonkson, pleaded guilty to a speeding charge and was fined $5 by City Judge Raymond Mino this morning. Judge Mino told Black in court that he would be lenient because Black was not a resident of the city and because of the newness of the regulation. He stressed the point, however, that the reduced speed zone was authorized for the benefit of the children. Black was arrested at 8:25 a. m. today by Patrolman Burger, who charged he was speeding 30 miles an hour on Washington avenue between Donovan place and Elizabeth street.

A third arrest was made by the same officer which, although not within the speed zone, was in the general area and came as a result of the police officer's enforcement drive there. John A. Ruska, 42, of Tillson, was accuse dby Patrolman Burger of passing the "full stop" sign on Gleenkill avenue and speeding out the Boulevard at 60 miles an hour. Ruska pleaded guilty to both charges, but said he actually was going 50 miles an hour, not 60. Judge Mino fined Ruska $15 on the speeding charge and $5 on the stop sign charge.

Mayor Makes Plea

Commenting on the arrests, Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk pleaded for strict compliance with the regulation in the interests of safety for the children, rather than arrests. He indicated, however, that strict enforcement will be continued in the school zone.

Moran Sentenced

New York, March 4 (AP)—James J. Moran, political pal of former Mayor William O'Dwyer, now ambassador to Mexico, was sentenced today to 12½ to 28 years as the "guiding genius" of a half-million dollar a year shakedown racket. He was sentenced to 12½ to 25 years for extortion, plus an indeterminate term up to three years for conspiracy. Moran was accused of heading a firemen's ring that obtained graft from fuel oil equipment dealers in return for installation permits for three years while he was first deputy fire commissioner in the O'Dwyer administration.

Amalgamated Asks Defeat of Three Bills

Local 186, Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America, has sent letters to Senator Arthur H. Wicks and Assemblyman John Wadlin asking the defeat of three bills pending in the state legislature, Mabel L. Fisher, business agent, announced today.

The bills opposed by the local clothing workers' union are those to prohibit unions to use funds for political purposes, to prevent fund raising by unions for political action, and to restrict endorsements by labor unions in the political field, Mrs. Fisher said.

Terming the measures "oppressive, discriminatory and undemocratic," Mrs. Fisher's announcement said, "We feel that if anything like this should go through, it will open the flood gates for a torrent of legislation aimed at making life miserable for workers and their families."

Each of the bills are sponsored by Sen. Austin W. Erwin (R) of Geneseo, Livingston county, and by Assemblyman Anthony J. Travia (D) of Kings county. The bills are now in committee in both Houses.

Wilson Says Wage Line Must Be Held Along With Prices to Beat Inflation

Deals With Costs

Truman Plan Endorsed to Keep Firms From Passing on Increases

Washington, March 4 (AP)—Mobilization Chief Charles E. Wilson today urged Congress to extend price and wage controls for two years.

"We cannot hold back inflation unless we hold down prices," Wilson told the Senate Banking Committee, adding that "conversely, we cannot hold down prices unless we hold the wage line."

Wilson told the Senators there has been "some easing" of shortages in such materials as copper and aluminum but he said it is still too early to know for certain whether this "easing" will continue.

At the same time the Defense Production Administration announced it will allot 30 million more pounds of aluminum and up to 25 million additional pounds of copper to civilian industries during the three-month period of April through June.

DPA boss Manly Fleischmann said the agency will decide this week which industries should get the metals. The allocation was made possible, he said, because of the return of surplus metal by the military and because orders of some companies were not as high as expected.

First Witness

The mobilization boss was the kickoff witness as the Senate opened public hearings to decide whether or not to extend the defense production act, which authorizes price and wage controls.

The act expires at midnight June 30. If Congress doesn't extend it before then, all price and wage controls would be ended.

Wilson said "no present easing of a shortage here or there, no decrease in some prices, should make us throw away the keys to our security.

"At least two more years of hard work are ahead of us before we reach our present goals of military strength and productive power."

Wilson endorsed President Truman's appeal to wipe out the Capehart Amendment—which permits manufacturers to pass their post-Korea cost increases on to the public—and the Herlong Amendment — which guarantees merchants their margins over cost.

These amendments were tacked onto the act when it was passed last year.

Will Hear From 75

The Banking Committee expects to hear about 75 witnesses. Some members say they expect Congress to vote to continue controls, but that there'll be some loosening of regulations.

Wilson reports that "over-all stability is now being maintained" on the economic front.

Asks China, Russia to Drop Hate

Truman Makes Dramatic Appeal to People of Both Nations to Get Rulers on Peace Line

Reminds of Aid

President Points Out How U. S. Helped Two Nations During War

Washington, March 4 (AP)—In a dramatic peace broadcast, President Truman today appealed to the people of Russia and Red China to force their rulers to drop "their senseless policy of hate and terror."

The President spoke from the flight deck of the Voice of America's powerful new floating transmitter, the U. S. Coast Guard Cutter "Courier" berthed at a city pier.

He addressed his words especially to the people of China and Russia, reminding them how the United States came to their aid in World War 2 when they were invaded by Nazi Germany and Japan.

"We helped them to save their countries," the President said. "I want to say to these people today, as we said then: We are your friends. There are no differences between us that can not be settled if your rulers will turn from their senseless policy of hate and terror, and follow the principles of peace.

Forced to Arm

"Today, the aggressive policies of your rulers are forcing us to arm to defend ourselves. But we can not find in our hearts any hate against you. We know that you are suffering under oppression and persecution. We know that if you were free to say what you really believe, you would join with us to banish the fear of war, and bring peace to the earth.

"Your government, with its newspapers and radios, may try to make you believe that the United States is a hostile country, bent on war. But that is not true. I want you to know that our highest aim is peace and friendship—and an end to the horrors of war."

The State Department said Mr. Truman's voice was heard in Europe, Latin America and the Far East. Relay stations at Tangier, Munich, Ceylon, Manila, Honolulu and facilities of the British Broadcasting Company beamed the message to listeners in all parts of the world via 37 transmitters. Immediately following the President's English language broadcast, the message was being translated into 45 languages for rebroadcast.

Equally Divided

Concord, N. H., March 4 (AP)—The good Republicans of this snowcrusted state capital held a reasonable facsimile of a New England political town meeting last night. Surprised, but secretly pretty pleased with the national hubbub caused by their March 11 primary, 800 of them turned out to hear two presidential candidates and four proxies talk about "The man who . . ." They divided their applause—as they may divide their votes in the state's popularity contest preference primary next week—about equally between advocates for Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio and Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Wicks Bill Approved

Albany, N. Y., March 4 (AP)—The Senate approved unanimously today a bill to strip the U. S. Trotting Association of sweeping powers in New York and vest them in State Harness Racing Commission. The bill was sent to the Assembly for expected approval. The Harness Racing Commission now licenses tracks. The USTA, a private corporation, licenses owners, drivers, trainers and such personnel as starters. It collects and retains the fees. The Wicks bill would give this licensing power and fees to the state commission.

2,500 Homes in Japan Destroyed by 'Quake, Tidal Waves; 31 Dead

Warehouses Toppled, Nine Big Fires Are Started by Disaster on North Island

No Americans Hurt

Two Cavalry Divisions Turn to Rescue Work Under Orders

Tokyo, March 4 (AP)—A terrifying earthquake and tidal waves killed at least 31 people in northern Japan today, injured hundreds and destroyed more than 2,500 homes.

Railway trains were toppled over. Rail lines were reported swallowed by great fissures. A coal mine partially collapsed.

Harbor facilities were badly damaged at Kushiro, a port city of 68,000 on the southeast coast of Hokkaido Island. Kushiro was the center of destruction.

Most of the dead were in and near the town, on Japan's most northerly island. Tidal waves knocked down warehouses. The quake touched off 11 fires.

People Buried Alive

Nine people were buried alive by a landslide.

The quake was general north of Tokyo. Tokyo itself was not damaged.

The U. S. First Cavalry Division is stationed on Hokkaido and the U. S. 24th Division is in northern Honshu.

They reported no Americans injured. Under orders of Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, the divisions turned their facilities to aid the stricken and homeless.

The quake struck at 10:24 a. m. (8:24 p. m. Monday EST).

Seismologists at American Universities reported it was one of the most severe in the world in half a century.

Worst Since 1950

Columbia University said it was the worst since Aug. 15, 1950, when a quake shook Assam, India. That was the biggest in 50 years. The Japanese quake was about the same intensity.

In Massachusetts Weston College reported it "the strongest earthquake" in a decade. University of California scientists called it "tremendous."

American seismologists said the shock was centered 60 miles below the floor of the Pacific ocean.

Tokyo meteorologists located the center as 43 miles east of Cape Erimo on South Central Hokkaido.

Some points were hit by as many as eight tidal waves. At other points the sea rose as much as five feet.

Waves Cover Island

At Hachinohe, on the northeast coast of Honshu, five tidal waves swept inland. Each was larger than the one before. Then, nearly four hours after the quake, "the sea receded greatly" Tokyo meteorologists said.

Sketchy reports said most of the damage was done along the eastern coast of Hokkaido facing the epicenter of the quake.

The U. S. Army reported 1,002 houses were destroyed at Shiranuka, 400 at Kiritappu, 400 at Hamanka. Other reports said 200 houses were demolished at Obihiro, 150 at Urakawa. The town of Nemuro reported 1,200 persons homeless.

18 Villages Swamped

Eighteen fishing villages were inundated. Tidal waters swept 20 fishing boats away at Kawaguchi in northern Honshu, the main is-

France Told to 'Do Her Duty'

Secretary of State Dean Acheson (right) confers with Sen. Tom Connally (D.-Tex.), chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, before reporting on recent NATO meetings in Lisbon. After the session, Connally warned France that she must do her utmost in her own defense "or she cannot justify large appropriations from the United States." (NEA Telephoto).

DeGaulle Shadow Is Cast Over French Political Scene

Assembly Votes Arms, Refuses to Raise Taxes; Looks to United States

Paris, March 4 (AP)—The lanky figure of Gen. Charles De Gaulle cast a lengthening shadow over French politics today as Independent Antoine Pinay tried to patch a new cabinet of experts from the ill-fitting jig-saw pieces of France's non-Communist parties.

Few observers gave Pinay—transport minister in the lame duck government of Edgar Faure any better chance of success than his predecessors.

Jaunty wartime Premier Paul Reynaud already had failed to stitch together what Pinay is seeking—a national union government of technicians drawn from all parties except the Communists. Rene Pleven, still smarting from the defeat which threw him out of office in January, refused even to make the try.

The crisis was in its fifth day. It began because the Assembly voted 1,400 billion francs (about four billion dollars) for arms—including expanded defense of western Europe—then refused a 15 per cent tax boost to help pay the bill.

Look to U. S.

Some French deputies already were talking about asking the United States for still more aid to pay France's defense bill. But in Washington, Chairman Tom Connally (D.-Tex.) of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, angrily thundered that unless France does "her utmost in her own defense, she cannot justify large appropriations from the United States for both economic and military aid."

De Gaulle Chances Brighten

The longer the crisis dragged on—with bleeding of the nearly empty treasury unstopped by new taxes—the better De Gaulle's chances seemed of getting into power.

His party, the RPF (Rally of the French People), which has the largest membership in Parliament, has decided it is ready to join in talks for a national union to meet the growing crisis. Should it gain a dominant voice in a new cabinet, it undoubtedly would cause a major upheaval in present French foreign policy.

De Gaulle already has called for sweeping changes in the major western defense programs to which France has recently committed herself.

The RPF vigorously opposed the Schuman plan for pooling western Europe's coal and steel industries. It also opposes the one-uniform European army, proposed by France as a method of bringing Germany into European defense without risking another German conquest of France.

Proposes Confederation

De Gaulle instead has proposed—in vague terms—a confederation of Europe "with each country retaining the right to its own forces but each country bound to another by precise mutual understandings so that no one can seek hegemony (domination) over the others."

He believes the United States is

Red Cross Drive To Be Discussed

Directors Meet Tomorrow to Talk About $46,000 Quota, Membership

A meeting of the board of directors of the Ulster County Chapter, American Red Cross, will be held at the chapter house Wednesday evening at 7:45 o'clock. All members of the board are asked to attend as very important business will come before the session.

Among the matters to be discussed are the annual Red Cross membership campaign and the fund raising program which is now going on.

Ulster county's share in the 1952 "neighbor-helping-neighbor" job of the American Red Cross this year is $46,400, a great portion of which will be spent directly here in Ulster county for the numerous services which the Red Cross renders.

For Broad Program

This money which is being sought through the volunteer efforts of approximately 600 Red Cross workers is for the blood program, services to the armed forces and veterans, disaster emergency relief and rehabilitation.

Under the leadership of Howard C. St. John, fund chairman, the Red Cross membership enrollment started on Saturday, March 1, and will be continued through the month of March. The solicitor who calls at homes is not out to beg for money. He or she is a paying member of the Red Cross, recruiting other members.

"The Red Cross has been described as people helping people. It represents something we do together for the mutual benefit of all," St. John said.

Truman Appeals for Plan

Washington, March 4 (AP)—President Truman appealed today for Senate approval of his plan to reorganize the much-investigated Internal Revenue Bureau. He said approval of the plan "is the most important step we can take to give our tax collecting agency an organization and a management that will assure the highest integrity and efficiency." Mr. Truman's appeal was in the form of a letter to Chairman McClellan (D-Ark.) of the Senate Expenditures Committee. The letter said "I earnestly hope your committee will take favorable action on plan and that it will be approved by the Senate."

Sue for Damages In Car Collision

Jennie Halpern of Kerhonkson and her husband have brought an action in Supreme Court to recover damages for property loss and personal injuries as a result of a collision between the Halpern car and that of Milton Rosenblatt of New York city.

Mrs. Halpern contends that on August 21, 1950, as she was proceeding from her private driveway to the Minnewaska Trail enroute to Kerhonkson village her car was struck as she was emerging from her property. Mrs. Halpern testified before Supreme Court Justice Taylor that she had stopped her car, looked to the left and saw no car. Her vision was obstructed for a distance beyond 50 feet. As she entered the road she observed the approaching car to her left a distance of 175 to 200 feet. She turned her car to the left and the collision took place when her car was about in the center of the road. She claims the Rosenblatt car was proceeding at an excessive speed.

Plaintiff seeks damages for an injury to her neck, back, arm and also two fractured ribs. Damage to the car and also for wages paid during two weeks while she was laid up is sought. Her husband brings a claim for loss of services and medical payments.

Philip Korn of Kerhonkson appears for Mrs. Halpern and Judge Andrew J. Cook for defendant.

Fair Street Reformed Men's Club Meeting

At the annual meeting of the Men's Club of the Fair Street Reformed Church held Monday evening Arthur T. Hutton was elected president to succeed W. Earl Rylance.

Edward Dingeldey was elected vice-president; W. Earl Rylance, secretary, and Robert P. Kennedy, treasurer. The newly-elected officers will be installed at the April meeting.

Richard B. Talleur, Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corporation engineer, was the speaker. Mr. Talleur spoke on the pending legislation in Washington relative to the proposed development of the Niagara River water power by the government and the alternate proposal for its development by private interests.

Development of Niagara Falls power is a very controversial matter with several of the large power companies of the state bitterly opposing the federal development.

Talleur proposed that any citizen interested in the question contact representatives in Washington expressing opinion of government development as contrasted to development of the power by existing public utility companies.

Mayor Encourages Restaurateurs on Business Outlook

Business encouragement was given the Ulster County Hotel and Restaurant Liquor Dealers Association at its 13th annual banquet by Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk, who remarked that more than almost 10,000 visitors will be in town for the New York State Bowling Championships.

More than 200 members of the association, their wives and friends attended the dinner in The Barn, Monday night, enjoyed the night club's regular entertainment and Johnny Michael's music for dancing.

Mayor Newkirk told the tavern keepers and restaurateurs that 1,500 bowling teams have signed to compete in the tournament.

"There should be a lot of business when the bowlers arrive," he said, "and each business man should be able to get his share of patronage."

The mayor also stressed that the visit of Queen Juliana of The Netherlands should bring many visitors to Kingston, eager to get a glimpse at royalty here for the 300th anniversary of Kingston.

Newkirk said he was pleased to be present for the dinner to meet many Kingstonians and residents of the surrounding areas.

Speeches were short and the evening was devoted to enjoying the occasion.

George Broome of Saugerties, past president of the association, and chairman of the banquet, gave a short welcome and read communications of regret from several officials unable to attend the banquet.

President Frank Carpino missed the event. He's in Florida for a vacation. Other officers are Charles Hoppe, vice president; Robert E. Teetsel, secretary; Emile Jordan, financial secretary and Anthony Saccoman, treasurer.

Refuse to Work

Jersey City, N. J., March 4 (AP)—Army supplies lay idle today as longshoremen refused to work in protest against police action barring dockworkers listed as "goons and hoodlums." The longshoremen's work stoppage—another in a long series over the past year—started last night, idling all major Jersey City piers along the Hudson river waterfront. Men due to work on army supplies at two terminals, and at other piers in the city failed to answer the 7:50 a. m. "shape-up" whistles. The total number of men was not known.

Financial and Commercial

New York, March 4 (AP)—A strong rally today carried stock market prices up substantially.

An unexpected spurt of buying entered the market in midmorning, and when it had died fractions to around 3 points.

There was no wild scramble for securities by any means and prices slipped back from their peak when trading quieted down, but demand was persistent and sustained for a time.

Railroads headed the advance with strong support from the oils. The heaviest advances were made in the oil group. Wide participation in the advance came from non-ferrous metals, chemicals, and steels, actually there was little if any concerted backwardness anywhere in the list.

The biggest dollar gains were made by the higher prices oils such as Amerada, Texas Pacific Land Trust, and Cities Service.

Assembly Passes Bill to Close Two Catskill Streams

Albany, N. Y., March 4 (AP)—The Assembly today voted, 76-65, to close the Beaver Kill and Willowemoc streams in the Catskill mountains as sources of municipal water supplies.

The measure, designed to preserve the world-famous trout streams, was aimed at reported plans by New York city to build dams in Delaware, Ulster and Sullivan counties.

The bill was sent to the Senate, where it is supported by GOP Leader Arthur H. Wicks of Kingston.

Assemblyman Hyman E. Mintz of South Fallsburg, the bill's sponsor, said the two streams should be kept in their natural state.

He said the streams had attracted thousands of sportsmen to the Catskill area "and any 'taking' would seriously affect the livelihood of hundreds of residents who depend for their income on sportsmen."

It was opposed by Minority Leader Irwin Steingut, who contended it was a matter of pitting the "satisfaction of some sportsmen" against the possible need of millions of New York city residents.

Steingut noted that Governor Dewey had vetoed an identical measure last year, and that the State Health Department opposed the Mintz measure.

Truce Talks Deadlocked

Munsan, Korea, March 4 (AP)—Korean truce talks are "right back where they were Dec. 18," Rear Adm. R. E. Libby said today after arguing with the Communists whether 50,000 missing allied troops actually exist. Libby demanded the Reds account for the missing men—South Korean soldiers the UN command says the Reds incorporated in the North Korean army. They "do not exist," said North Korean Maj. Gen. Lee Sang Cho. He called it an allied fabrication, an "attempt to block our progress by creating another hindrance." (The Reds concede some South Koreans are in the Communist army, but contend they are volunteers and that many deserted the South Korean army.)

Truman Appeals for Plan

Washington, March 4 (AP)—President Truman appealed today for Senate approval of his plan to reorganize the much-investigated Internal Revenue Bureau. He said approval of the plan "is the most important step we can take to give our tax collecting agency an organization and a management that will assure the highest integrity and efficiency." Mr. Truman's appeal was in the form of a letter to Chairman McClellan (D-Ark.) of the Senate Expenditures Committee. The letter said "I earnestly hope your committee will take favorable action on plan and that it will be approved by the Senate."

Sue for Damages In Car Collision

Jennie Halpern of Kerhonkson and her husband have brought an action in Supreme Court to recover damages for property loss and personal injuries as a result of a collision between the Halpern car and that of Milton Rosenblatt of New York city.

Mrs. Halpern contends that on August 21, 1950, as she was proceeding from her private driveway to the Minnewaska Trail enroute to Kerhonkson village her car was struck as she was emerging from her property. Mrs. Halpern testified before Supreme Court Justice Taylor that she had stopped her car, looked to the left and saw no car. Her vision was obstructed for a distance beyond 50 feet. As she entered the road she observed the approaching car to her left a distance of 175 to 200 feet. She turned her car to the left and the collision took place when her car was about in the center of the road. She claims the Rosenblatt car was proceeding at an excessive speed.

Plaintiff seeks damages for an injury to her neck, back, arm and also two fractured ribs. Damage to the car and also for wages paid during two weeks while she was laid up is sought. Her husband brings a claim for loss of services and medical payments.

Philip Korn of Kerhonkson appears for Mrs. Halpern and Judge Andrew J. Cook for defendant.

Fair Street Reformed Men's Club Meeting

At the annual meeting of the Men's Club of the Fair Street Reformed Church held Monday evening Arthur T. Hutton was elected president to succeed W. Earl Rylance.

Edward Dingeldey was elected vice-president; W. Earl Rylance, secretary, and Robert P. Kennedy, treasurer. The newly-elected officers will be installed at the April meeting.

Richard B. Talleur, Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corporation engineer, was the speaker. Mr. Talleur spoke on the pending legislation in Washington relative to the proposed development of the Niagara River water power by the government and the alternate proposal for its development by private interests.

Development of Niagara Falls power is a very controversial matter with several of the large power companies of the state bitterly opposing the federal development.

Talleur proposed that any citizen interested in the question contact representatives in Washington expressing opinion of government development as contrasted to development of the power by existing public utility companies.

Mayor Encourages Restaurateurs on Business Outlook

Business encouragement was given the Ulster County Hotel and Restaurant Liquor Dealers Association at its 13th annual banquet by Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk, who remarked that more than almost 10,000 visitors will be in town for the New York State Bowling Championships.

More than 200 members of the association, their wives and friends attended the dinner in The Barn, Monday night, enjoyed the night club's regular entertainment and Johnny Michael's music for dancing.

Mayor Newkirk told the tavern keepers and restaurateurs that 1,500 bowling teams have signed to compete in the tournament.

"There should be a lot of business when the bowlers arrive," he said, "and each business man should be able to get his share of patronage."

The mayor also stressed that the visit of Queen Juliana of The Netherlands should bring many visitors to Kingston, eager to get a glimpse at royalty here for the 300th anniversary of Kingston.

Newkirk said he was pleased to be present for the dinner to meet many Kingstonians and residents of the surrounding areas.

Speeches were short and the evening was devoted to enjoying the occasion.

George Broome of Saugerties, past president of the association, and chairman of the banquet, gave a short welcome and read communications of regret from several officials unable to attend the banquet.

President Frank Carpino missed the event. He's in Florida for a vacation. Other officers are Charles Hoppe, vice president; Robert E. Teetsel, secretary; Emile Jordan, financial secretary and Anthony Saccoman, treasurer.

Refuse to Work

Jersey City, N. J., March 4 (AP)—Army supplies lay idle today as longshoremen refused to work in protest against police action barring dockworkers listed as "goons and hoodlums." The longshoremen's work stoppage—another in a long series over the past year—started last night, idling all major Jersey City piers along the Hudson river waterfront. Men due to work on army supplies at two terminals, and at other piers in the city failed to answer the 7:50 a. m. "shape-up" whistles. The total number of men was not known.

Storm Aftermath a Traffic Problem

A bulldozer was needed to clear this road on shore of Halifax, N.S., harbor, of these large ice-cakes swept up on shore by a blizzard that ripped across the Canadian Maritimes over the week-end. At least two persons are dead and ten missing after a week of storms and blizzards. (AP Wirephoto).

Financial and Commercial

New York, March 4 (AP)—A strong rally today carried stock market prices up substantially.

An unexpected spurt of buying entered the market in midmorning, and when it had died fractions to around 3 points.

There was no wild scramble for securities by any means and prices slipped back from their peak when trading quieted down, but demand was persistent and sustained for a time.

Railroads headed the advance with strong support from the oils. The heaviest advances were made in the oil group. Wide participation in the advance came from non-ferrous metals, chemicals, and steels, actually there was little if any concerted backwardness anywhere in the list.

The biggest dollar gains were made by the higher prices oils such as Amerada, Texas Pacific Land Trust, and Cities Service.

Assembly Passes Bill to Close Two Catskill Streams

Albany, N. Y., March 4 (AP)—The Assembly today voted, 76-65, to close the Beaver Kill and Willowemoc streams in the Catskill mountains as sources of municipal water supplies.

The measure, designed to preserve the world-famous trout streams, was aimed at reported plans by New York city to build dams in Delaware, Ulster and Sullivan counties.

The bill was sent to the Senate, where it is supported by GOP Leader Arthur H. Wicks of Kingston.

Assemblyman Hyman E. Mintz of South Fallsburg, the bill's sponsor, said the two streams should be kept in their natural state.

He said the streams had attracted thousands of sportsmen to the Catskill area "and any 'taking' would seriously affect the livelihood of hundreds of residents who depend for their income on sportsmen."

It was opposed by Minority Leader Irwin Steingut, who contended it was a matter of pitting the "satisfaction of some sportsmen" against the possible need of millions of New York city residents.

Steingut noted that Governor Dewey had vetoed an identical measure last year, and that the State Health Department opposed the Mintz measure.

Truce Talks Deadlocked

Munsan, Korea, March 4 (AP)—Korean truce talks are "right back where they were Dec. 18," Rear Adm. R. E. Libby said today after arguing with the Communists whether 50,000 missing allied troops actually exist. Libby demanded the Reds account for the missing men—South Korean soldiers the UN command says the Reds incorporated in the North Korean army. They "do not exist," said North Korean Maj. Gen. Lee Sang Cho. He called it an allied fabrication, an "attempt to block our progress by creating another hindrance." (The Reds concede some South Koreans are in the Communist army, but contend they are volunteers and that many deserted the South Korean army.)

Do You Remember

By SOPHIE MILLER

Now with spring cleaning just around the corner, many items all over the country will be destroyed which perhaps may be worth good American money. The following may interest those housewives who are determined to clean out that attic corner. This was printed in Mechanix Illustrated of March, 1952. "At the National Antique Show held in New York City recently a New Jersey housewife presented a bundle of letters for evaluation. She had found them in her attic. Sigmund Rothschild, well-known appraiser looked them over carefully with the following deduction. "Madam," he said excitedly, "these letters are a very important historical find." Six of them proved to have been written by Abraham Lincoln's wife Mary to Abram Wakeman. Rothschild valued them at more than $100,000."

Now don't think that every autograph you may have is worth such a fabulous amount. Autograph prices range from 40 cents for a Betty Grable signature to $260,000 for a copy of the Declaration of Independence. Perhaps you never thought of that document as an autograph but among real collectors, an autograph may refer to a handwritten letter, a signed manuscript or document, a signed photograph or just a signature." But of course it must be a real signature. There for a time I used to collect autographs, then dropped the idea but the following makes me feel it may be worth while. As a rule I have liked to have a sketch or photograph with the signature. The most noteworthy collection I have seen was brought to Kingston by State Senator Halpern.

According to the Mechanix Illustrated: "The following values are listed by a leading autograph dealer. General Douglas MacArthur, $3.50. Ingred Bergman, $1.50. Fred M. Vinson, $3; Enrico Caruso $50. Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker, $1.50 . The above prices are partially determined by the nature of the autograph, whether its a plain signature, a greeting or a signed photograph."

Perhaps most folks have heard the following story: "Back in 1927, a Mamaroneck family was cleaning out the barn, came across a letter signed by Button Gwinett and two other signers of the Declaration of Independence. The lucky family received $51,000 for that piece of paper." Supposing, they like other families would have thrown it out on the junk heap. Spring-cleaning minded, dust-chasing women throw many items away, which perhaps have some value to someone.

It ibs said that Button Gwinnett's signature is the second rarest among the signers of the Declaration. The rarest of all is Thomas Lynch, Jr's. Current prices for Lynch, Jr., or Gwinnett range from $2,000 to $10,000. Autograph collectors are looking for: "A letter written by William Henry Harrison during the 30 days that he was president of the United States; any writing of Captain John Smith; original manuscripts of Herman Melville or Edgar Allan Poe."

Although I am always pleased and excited to see famous autographs, but I cannot advise you on the worth of them. The National Society of Autograph Collectors at 285 Madison avenue, New York 17, can refer you to a dealer or collector whom they believe interested in your particular find.

Revolt Crushed

Quito, Ecuador, March 4 (AP)—The Ecuadorian government announced last night it had crushed a revolt plot by seven naval officers and 10 civilians in Guayaquil. All 17 were arrested by troops of the Guayaquil army garrison, the Defense Ministry said. Guayaquil was reported back to normal, after the revolt flurry early in the morning. An Interior Department, communique said an investigation showed the event was "simply a senseless attempt" against public order, but added political overtones by saying the government will guarantee orderly balloting in next June's presidential elections.

Will Face Bank Charge

New York, March 4 (AP)—John R. Bayless, 37, arrested last week in a dramatic cross-country chase, is going back to California to face a bank robbery charge. He waived extradition in Brooklyn federal court yesterday. He will be returned on a charge that he robbed the Hollywood branch of the Bank of America of $19,000 on Feb. 25. Bayless was captured here as he stepped off a transcontinental plane a few hours after the robbery.

Would Help Farmers

Albany, N. Y., March 4 (AP)—The Senate today received an Assembly-approved bill that would permit farmers to list sales of livestock as "capital assets" on state income tax returns and thereby pay lower tax rates on their prifits. It would cover only livestock, excluding poultry, that had been owned by a farmer for at least 12 months. Federal income tax law now permits the "capital assets" classification for such sales.

Truman Headquarters in Former Fur Store

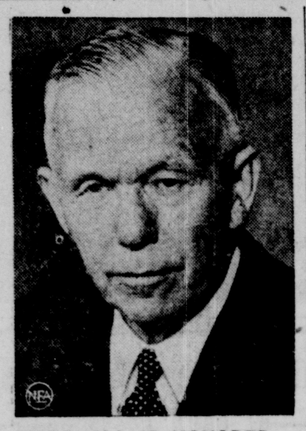
Red-faced Truman supporters promptly ordered the large sign (above) on a former fur store moved after they were showered with wisecracks about "mink coat scandals" minutes after the headquarters were opened on a Manchester, N.H. street. (AP Wirephoto).

Unusual Marriage Over

New York, March 4 (AP)—Novelist Fannie Hurst goes as a solitary mourner today to the funeral of her husband, whose death ended a long marriage unsurpassed in fiction. Her husband, 76-year-old Jacques S. Danielson, retired pianist-composer, died yesterday at his home. Miss Hurst planned a funeral service with herself as the only person present. The body will be cremated. The novelist, now 62, married Danielson in 1915. She announced the marriage five years later and told of its workings. The two kept separate apartments, breakfasting together twice a week. He telephoned her for appointments. On each wedding anniversary, they took a holiday together. She kept her own name.

Doc and Phone Retire

New York (AP) — Recent retirement of Dr. Charles E. Birch, 88, White Plains physician, after 60 years of service, also retired an old-time telephone. It had been in use 54 years. It was the old-fashioned wall type known as the "goose-neck" because the transmitter was mounted on an adjustable arm to bring it as close to the mouth of a standing speaker as possible. The phone had been superseded in 1912 by a more compact device, but the doctor preferred to keep the old one as long as he maintained his office.



MARSHALL IS HONORED—General of the Army George C. Marshall will receive this year's Four Freedoms Award, at a dinner to be given in his honor on March 14. Marshall was chosen for the honor by the vote of 15,000 persons from all walks of life, according to the Four Freedoms Foundation. The award is given annually in commemoration of the public service of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt, who gave his famous Four Freedoms speech to Congress in 1941.

$700 to Find Ball

Washington, March 4 (AP) — A suggestion that radioactive golf balls might help the duffer who invariably drives into the rough got no congressional support today. The Senate-House Committee on atomic energy reported the suggestion was interesting but "not practical." The group had the Atomic Energy Commission check up on the idea after a member of Congress suggested a Geiger counter could easily lead a golfer to a stray radioactive ball. But, alas, the commission said a ball with enough radioactivity to be any good would be dangerous if carried more than three hours a week. It added that a Geiger counter able to detect a ball at six feet could cost $700.

Adopt Constitution

San Juan, Puerto Rico, March 4 (AP)—Puerto Rican-voters overwhelmingly adopted a new constitution yesterday to give their 100-mile-long island self government as a "free commonwealth" associated with the United States. Final returns in the ratification election, announced last night, gave 373,418 votes for the constitution, 82,473 against it. The island has been a U. S. colony since the Spanish-American War. Congress gave it the power to elect its own president in 1947. It already elected its Legislature.

Too Many Cars, Say Dealers, to Check

Albany, N. Y., March 4 (AP)—The State Automobile Dealer's Association says a proposed system of compulsory, twice-a-year inspections won't work because cars would have to be checked at the rate of one every 2.9 minutes.

Under a measure introduced by Republican Senator Seymour Halpern of Queens, the state would set up a system of inspection stations. Inspections would cost 75 cents each.

The association, which contends the job should be handled by private garages, said in a statement yesterday that New York state's four million vehicles would require eight million inspections a year.

Making that many checks in 192 lanes, the organization said, meant that 41,667 vehicles must be handled by each lane. Since the lanes would be open only 245 eight-hour days a year (excluding Saturdays, Sundays and holidays), one vehicle would have to be inspcted every 2.9 minutes in an unbroken line.

"Obviously," the association concluded, "this plan won't work, and even if twice as many stations were built, there would be no way to prevent long waiting lines."

She Won't Retire

Washington, March 4 (AP)—President Truman has signed an executive order exempting Frances Perkins, a member of the Civil Service Commission, from compulsory retirement next April 10 when she will be 70 years old. Miss Perkins was secretary of labor in the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt's cabinet. Mr. Truman appointed her to the Civil Service Commission in 1946. The post pays $15,000 a year.

Wins Club Election

Craryville, N. Y., March 4 (AP)—A Columbia county farmer and writer of economics who ran for president of the United States on the Greenback ticket in 1948 has won an election. John G. Scott, who said he had been a Republican for 30 years although he had supported Greenback ideas in his writings, is the new president of the Town of Taghkanic Republican Club.

Dewey Signs Bill On Track Crooks

Albany, March 4 (AP)—Governor Dewey signed a bill today to broaden the power of the state racing commission to purge "shady" characters from the sport.

The new law makes "past association" with criminals ground for refusing or revoking the license of any race horse owner, jockey or trainer.

The original law bans persons currently 'associating or consorting" with criminals or who have criminal records themselves. It also makes past or present association with "bookmakers, touts or persons of similar pursuits" a ground for revocation or refusal of a license. These provisions are continued.

The change adding the past-association-with-criminals provision was recommended by the state racing commission.

The clause also was extended to a "partner, agent, employe or associate" of an owner, jockey or trainer.

The racing commission was directed to issue licenses only to "natural persons," thereby prohibiting permits for corporations.

The legislation was introduced by Senator Walter J. Mahoney and Assemblyman D. Mallory Stephens, Republican chairman of the Legislature's finance committees.

Begin on Navy Plant

Riverhead, N. Y., March 4 (AP)—Work has begun on a projected $22 million navy jet plane assembly plant and testing field. Workmen began clearing land for two runways yesterday. The Grumman Aircraft Engineering Corp., of Bethpage, N. Y., who will operate the plant, expects to get it into operation by April, 1953.

TRUMAN BID HURT BY SILENCE

President Truman now has put off for at least another month any public statement whether or not he intends to seek re-election. While this further delay is unlikely to affect his own chances, it might well weaken his power to influence the choice of a successor, should the President decide not to run.

No one doubts that if Mr. Truman wants the nomination he can get it, even if he doesn't speak until the last moment before the convention. But this business of selecting a successor suitable to the White House is more difficult.

Senator Kefauver of Tennessee has upset all hopes, if such do indeed exist, that plans for a successor could be worked out without serious interference. Kefauver is an earnest and energetic campaigner. His TV fame and his simple, direct manner of meeting people combine to assist his candidacy.

In New Hampshire, for instance, the professional Democrats not long ago were saying Kefauver would not poll more than 30 per cent of the popular vote in the coming March 11 primary. Now, after some heavy work by the senator in that state, the professionals are not so sure.

The situation in Wisconsin is even more irksome to the Truman regulars. Since a candidate's formal consent is required for entry into that primary (set for April 1), Mr. Truman's name will not appear. Kefauver has entered, and his only competition will be two "favorite son" slates standing in for the President.

But neither of the "sons" slated for the Democratic ballot is well known, and the conviction is strong that Kefauver will win over them handily.

A victory there and a good popular showing in New Hampshire might build toward a fairly impressive vote for Kefauver in the Illinois primary April 8. If that should happen, he would be a factor to be reckoned with in the event the President bowed out.

The senator will have real competition, of course, in Nebraska April 1. Senator Kerr of Oklahoma, reputed to be one of the President's favorites as a possible successor, has entered the Nebraska primary. His move is a double-purpose affair to hold the fort for Mr. Truman if he can, and to give his own candidacy some steam if the President declines.

Kerr is a genial, likable fellow and may cut Kefauver down in Nebraska. But there is no guarantee of it. In national fame Kefauver must be allowed a definite edge. Should he ride out this situation, too, Mr. Truman would have a big problem on his hands.

It would be a mistake, naturally, to minimize the value of the presidential blessing, whether it should fall on Kerr or Governor Stevenson of Illinois, or some other. But a Kefauver flushed by triumphs in early spring primaries and gathering popular momentum would be no easy barrier for Mr. Truman to hurdle.

Mr. Truman is a shrewd politician. He must be as aware as anyone of these prospects. If he is, then two conclusions are possible. One is that he has made up his mind to run again and thus isn't worried about Kefauver. The second is that he does not take the senator so seriously as some of his field lieutenants are beginning to do.

A President Truman bent on seeking reelection is on safe ground in keeping silent. But a President eager to withdraw but hopeful of designating his heir is getting into dangerous waters as the days go by.

And the entry of Sen. Richard Russell of Georgia into the Democratic sweepstakes doesn't help Mr. Truman's position any, either.

At the outset of the Korean fighting the government assumed control of the crude natural rubber market. This move enabled the government to control the world price on rubber and to assure an adequate stockpile of the precious material for American defense and civilian use. Now authorities feel that conditions have improved to the point where the crude natural rubber market can be handed back to private industry.

Some controls remain in effect, according to the recent order, but these may eventually be relaxed.

HOLLYWOOD'S COMMUNISTS

The motion picture industry is excited over the 1951 annual report of the 1951 House Committee on Un-American Activities which calls attention to sustainable conclusions. The committee's report stated:

". . . It is not the committee's purpose to destroy this investment. It must be remembered, however, that the American public also has an investment in Hollywood for, prior to the advent of television, the American public relied almost solely upon Hollywood motion pictures for visual, dramatic presentation. It must be realized that moving pictures have a tremendous emotional effect upon the audience which views them. The same is true of television shows. . . . The committee hopes that its investigation of Hollywood will have a far-reaching effect and prevent a large-scale future Communist infiltration of the television industry. . . ."

Two points of view have long existed in the motion picture industry:

1. That every disclosure of Communist activities in Hollywood hurts the industry. Therefore anyone who raises this issue is an enemy of the industry. In keeping with this concept, so-caled Hollywood statesmen—that is, some lawyers, public relations counsel and front men for the industry—have opposed such organizations as the Motion Picture Alliance for the Preservation of American Ideals which since 1944 has actively been fighting the activities of the Communists in Hollywood. The general industry attitude has been that the anti-Communists were a greater nuisance than the Communists. The Reds have taken full advantage of that.

The House Committee on Un-American Activities calls attention to this undeniable fact:

"The need for remedial action was amply demonstrated when it was found that four Communist-front organizations, which had operated in the state of California, had received approximately $1,000,000 from members of the Hollywood motion-picture industry. It had long been known that Hollywood was one of the principal sources of funds for the Communist Party of the United States."

2. Some companies have, on their own, cleaned house, often at considerable cost. It can be said that Repubic, RKO, and Warner Brothers have done most to keep their studios clean. It is a tough job because Communists do not readily expose themselves and the best technique for their discovery is an unpleasant one, namely, the searching of records of activity and the assumption of guilt by association. The latter method of exposure is particularly unpalatable, even to violent anti-Communists, but it has been the net that has caught most of the fish.

Such companies as Paramount, Columbia, and Twentieth Century-Fox have, in recent months, been facing the issue practically, on the sound business assumption that pictures in which Communists or "Fronters" have been writers, producers, directors, actors encounter unusual sales resistance and therefore are defective products.

The process of eliminating Communists meets many impediments, including some decisions of the courts. I shall list some of the major impediments:

1. The general ignorance on the part of leading men in this industry of political ideas and activities, the meaning of Communism and the violent rejection of it by most Americans.

2. The alleged box-office appeal of certain writers and actors. The allegation has not been sustained by receipts during 1950 and 1951.

3. The natural desire to protect property values in already manufactured pictures, in "big names" which cost huge sums to build up, and in investments in pictures currently being shown.

4. Contractual arrangements which the courts will protect.

The answer is that the country will not tolerate the employment of Communists and their allies in this and related industries. An actor, writer, etc., knows why he joined the Communists, who recruited him, and he knows whether he has engaged in any other activities which are not on the record. All he needs to do is to clear his own record, either by writing a letter to his company, preferably notarized, or to the House Committee or to the Motion Picture Alliance. He can always arrange to have a copy of the record circulated to most of the active anti-Communist groups in the country. He needs no lawyer, no public relations counsel, no "clearer."

Many who would like to clear themselves resist the temptation to go straight for one of three reasons:

1. The unwillingness to appear to have been foolish;
2. They do not like to name others;
3. The fear that the industry itself will not give them employment.

That Body of Yours

100 PATIENTS WITH HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE

It is true that heart strokes (coronary thrombosis) and brain strokes (apoplexy) are generally caused by high blood pressure or weak walls of the blood vessel. We know that some of these cases of coronary thrombosis and apoplexy die during the first attack. We also know that many of them have several attacks and live for many years, perhaps dying of some other ailment.

In The American Heart Journal, St. Louis, is given the life history of 100 patients with high blood pressure followed from the time of onset of their first attack until death. The group included 38 men and 62 women. Twenty-six had a family history of high blood pressure (hypertensive vascular disease). The average age of onset of high blood pressure was 32 and the average age at death was 51. Hypertensive vascular disease usually begins in early adult life and has an average duration of about 20 years.

The primary or original cause of death was not known in 41 of the patients. Congestive heart failure was the cause of death in 19 patients, accidents to the blood vessels of the brain in 17, failure of the heart muscle in 17, urine in the blood in six.

Although the heart is a very simple organ, many complications may be present, and the time of onset and the intensity of any given complications vary enormously. Nevertheless, measured in terms of single complications, the average survival of patients after the discovery of high blood pressure with complications, was five or more years.

When the patient knows he has high blood pressure but will live an average of 20 years with it, he can, under his doctor's supervision and following his suggestions as to diet, rest and exercise, prolong life for as long as he would live if he did not have high blood pressure.

The rules for safety in high blood pressure are an hour's rest during the day and an extra hour at night, light meals with nourishing food, and light daily exercise such as walking. Sometimes the physician prescribes quieting drugs, not to lower the blood pressure but to prevent its getting higher due to fear and anxiety.

—And There Was Light

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

San Juan, Puerto Rico — The U.S. Senate has now heard charges from three different senators that Puerto Rico's Georgetown University-educated Governor Luis Munoz Marin is dictator of that land. The accusing senators are Brewster of Maine, Butler of Maryland, both Republicans, and Johnston of South Carolina, a Democrat.

Their charges illustrate a new technique in what is supposed to be the most illustrious legislative body in the world—the U.S. Senate. For what the public doesn't realize when it listens to these speeches is that the man behind them is a South Carolina contractor who owes $1,000,000 in back taxes to the Puerto Rican government.

The Puerto Rican public does realize this, however, and reactions here have been highly prejudicial to the prestige of the U.S. Congress. Whereas congress is supposed to set the highest moral and legislative standards for the western hemisphere, actually the speeches of these three senators are regarded in Puerto Rico as little more than blackmail. In brief, if the Puerto Rican government doesn't forgive $1,000,000 in taxes owed by L. D. Long, South Carolina contractor, then the U.S. Senate will investigate Puerto Rico.

At a time when we are trying to encourage clean government throughout Pan-America this does not go down well in the Caribbean.

Housing Projects

Meanwhile, L. D. Long of Charleston, S. C., becomes one of the most famous characters in Puerto Rico. It is doubtful whether Franklin D. Roosevelt or Harry S. Truman are better known, though their reputations here are more favorable.

L. D. Long is a likable, hustling contractor who has put up more FHA housing projects in Puerto Rico than any other man in history — housing that was badly needed though opinions differ regarding its durability.

Long and his family have been staunch supporters and contributors to the campaigns of Senator Olin Johnston, who, aside from his current proposal to probe alleged tyranny in Puerto Rico, has been a hardworking and conscientious senator.

Shortly after he began operations in Puerto Rico, Long started to apply northern political techniques to the island and dropped in on Munoz Marin, then a candidate for governor, with a large war of greenbacks bulging from his pockets totaling $25,000. These he offered to Munoz as a campaign contribution for the Popular Democratic party.

Munoz declined.

"Our campaigns do not cost that much," he said. "Besides, if I accepted that much money from one man the voters might hold it against me and I would be defeated."

Long however insisted. Finally Munoz told him to take the money to the secretary of the Popular Democratic party, get a receipt, and they would use the money if they needed it. If not, it would be returned. Long did so. At the end of the campaign—which incidentally elected a native, Munoz, for the first time in Puerto Rico's history—the money was returned.

Tax Trouble

The trouble over Long's taxes arose when former Governor Jesus Pinero, a Washington appointee, told Long that his petition for tax exemption would be favorably considered. Ex-Governor Pinero has now gone to work for Long. But even so the ex-governor does not state that Long was promised tax exemption but rather that his petition would be considered favorably.

Since then the question of Long's taxes have gone before the U. S. District Court and the U. S. Court of Appeals in Boston. Each decided against him. Though these first appeals were taken to U. S. courts, Long has now gone back to try his hand in the Puerto Rican courts, where the case now stands.

Whether he is right or wrong, Long certainly has been given every right of judicial appeal not usually available in a dictatorship, which he and his Senate friends now claim exists in Puerto Rico.

Meanwhile he has gone over the heads of the courts as dictators sometimes do to try his case in the U. S. Senate—which has left a decidedly bad taste in Puerto Rico.

Furthermore, he has employed certain other techniques not considered good practice in democracies to promote FHA housing in the island.

These techniques recently caused the Federal Housing Administration in Washington to fire its FHA representative in Puerto Rico, Frederick D'A. Carpenter.

FHA Okays

Long has now financed a total of $51,000,000 worth of houses and apartments through FHA in Puerto Rico and has exhibited a surprising facility for getting FHA okays.

It is interesting that FHA Representative Carpenter informed the Rockefeller group, an organization trying to help the low-cost housing situation in the Caribbean, that only 200 housing units were needed in San Juan. But only four months later the same Carpenter okayed 3,800 housing units for Long to be financed through FHA.

The reason for Carpenter's interest in helping Long could have had some connection with the fact that a lady who registered on the S.S. Puerto Rico passenger list on June 14, 1951, as "Mrs. Rosario P. De Carpenter" is an officer in three of Long's subsidiaries. The lady is Rosario Pelaez, whose daughter has been adopted by Carpenter and who is vice president of Caparra Commercial Corporation and Caparra Grocery Stores and is also secretary treasurer of Caparra Pharmacy. All these are owned by Long who paid "Mrs. Rosario P. De Carpenter" a regular salary.

After the discovery of this interesting connection between L. D. Long and the FHA representative who okayed $51,000,000 worth of housing for Long, the FHA fired Carpenter.

Naturally, all this is well known to the people of Puerto Rico. So when a U. S. senator takes the floor of the world's most important deliberative body to criticize Puerto Rican democracy it doesn't help the so-called democratic system which is supposed to prevail in the U. S. Senate.

Machine Tool Maker Fears United States Plan Is Choking All Industry

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, March 3—The so-called "stretchout" of America's defense program is due to no small extent to the fact that the machine-tool program was bungled. That is why America has not realized her goals in aircraft, in tanks, or in other major items of the armament program. But it is the long-range impact of government action—its ultimate effect on industry as a whole—that gives the machine-tool builders of today basis for anxiety.

It is interesting to note the comments made by Charles J. Stilwell, president of the Warner & Swasey Company, of Cleveland—not the largest but one of the important machine-tool companies of the country. He says in his report to stockholders just released:

"On the basis of present trends, the machine-tool industry is rapidly becoming a 'captive' of government.

"The government dictates from whom orders may be taken and to whom the finished machines may be shipped. The government controls the materials that may be purchased, and even specifies the finish of the product. The government dictates what wages and salaries may be paid. The government sets the prices and so decides how much profit can be made. After the profit has been figured, excess-profits taxes take their toll. Then, from what is left, renegotiation finally determines arbitrarily what the company may retain.

"Every one will agree that some of these controls are necessary in a period such as this. Much of the situation making some of the controls necessary could have been avoided, but for all practical purposes this industry is involved in an all-out war.

"Ours is a highly competitive industry and is the foundation of the American competitive system. Through engineering competition it forces the benefits of our great industrial system out into the American standard of living.

"What will happen to competition if the tools of competition are withheld or are built only as directed by government, allocated by government, and owned by government? Competing companies seeking to gain larger sales and broader markets by cutting costs and prices will not be able to go into the open market to buy the machine tools needed to do this job. Machine-tool companies will be assured of business arising from government—but industry in general will be slowly starved of the tools upon which have been founded the American standard of living and our industrial might.

"Certainly, looking toward the future, government decontrol of machine tools as soon as possible would seem to be imperative.

"Tax incentives on behalf of modernization, plus decontrol of the machine-tool industry, would reverse the present trend toward concentration in government of ownership of the tools of production. Privately owned companies, instead of government owned, would buy the machine tools and keep the productive equipment up to date. Privately owned companies would become the arsenals of the free democracy. These privately owned plants would be utilized for which the tools were designed; and, a continuing market thereby assured, the machine-tool industry would make certain its readiness to meet any national emergency."

Mr. Stillwell's own report shows, incidentally, that with a jump in sales from about $18,000,000 in 1950 to about $33,000,000 in 1951, the net earnings after taxes increased only $250,000. This was because of the Federal tax increase. Yet the company had to borrow considerably to take care of increased inventories required.

Something of the same sort is happening in aircraft. The Douglas Aircraft Company shows a 75 per cent increase in sales and a tax bite amounting to $14.65 per share in 1951, as compared with a tax bite of $7.90 per share in 1950. Yet, to take care of the needed expansion desired by the government, the Douglas company had to borrow huge sums from the banks to finance receivables, plant property and inventories.

These risks incurred in borrowing huge sums or in trying to raise equity capital cannot be undertaken indefinitely by American business with a rapidly diminishing profit margin. Unless there is a reasonable return on investments, the end result may be that the aircraft business may become "captive" too.

They must be smiling in Moscow as they see America's powerful industrial machine throttled by a bungling government, which is ignoring incentives as well as investor confidence — the keystone to industrial expansion.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Rome—The impression prevailing in the United States that the union movement in Great Britain is a decent, genteel, law-abiding exercise of the right of collective bargaining by voluntary members does not survive close inspection or regular perusal of the English papers over a length of time. It is in some particulars even more impudent toward the legislature and the whole people than our monstrosities, but it is now losing ground after ruling and wellnigh ruining the country through the long Socialist administration. The British public has yet to hear of the practical criminality of the spectacular gangsters of the A.F. of L., some few of whom have been jailed away notwithstanding the apathy of the executive council of that master syndicate of the criminal world which Senator Kefauver so artfully ignored.

The British papers have a peculiar taste in American news and a peculiar standard of celebrity. They are childish over Hollywood hams whom they call cinema stars and, as I reported a few weeks before she became Queen Elizabeth, they let the young princess get maneuvered into a degrading exhibition at which Frank Sinatra and the woman for whom he quit his wife and three children got top billing. Sinatra would have outscored the heiress to the British throne except that Lucky Luciano's melodious friend lost his temper and laid an egg. The London Express gave Sinatra hysterical play, but a reaction set in right afterward. Persons in the royal household, the Washington Embassy and Scotland Yard caught hell for neglecting to save the royal prestige from this exploitation.

The British union racket went into a steep decline after the insurrectionary general strike of 1926. The open shop became a shining institution symbolic of the Englishman's right to raise whiskers, go barefoot, wear red, long-handled drawers over his trousers or otherwise indulge his lawful whims. His right not to contribute to the campaign funds of the Labor Party was confirmed in a law which made the unioneers come to each man or woman individually for a voluntary gift. When the unions took over the government they changed this back to the old form whereby the individual has to take the initiative and record his intention to abstain. This is much less comfortable to the worker than the other way. The coercive intent of the racketeers in charge, some of whom actually are peers and knights of various degrees, while publicly denied, is privately acknowledged with a smirk.

There is not much difference between their unioneers and ours under the skin. They lie with a straight face, they don't give a dam for their country where a union issue is involved, and they persecute the poor dumb working stiff to the extent that the law and the people charged with enforcing the law permit.

Their workers also are a good deal like ours in their attitude toward unions and union bosses. The British ignoranti, like our own sheep, cherish their unions because under union rule a half-hour's work in an hour's time by the clock is the accepted standard and petty time-killing, stalling and whistle-jumping tricks enjoy almost legal status for lack of organized opposition among the employers.

A few weeks ago, Nancy Astor, who is much more intelligent than the dolts to whom she had to appeal for votes by pretty clowning and repartee, hauled off and said that although she was an ardent dry she had to admit that tea, not gin, booze or beer, was the curse of Britain.

She was right. The silly spectacle of a half dozen street laborers or teamsters standing around with morose expressions straining tea through old bill mustaches on the street while the Russian drives his slaves 15 hours a day on carp soup and turnips is almost unbelievable at first glimpse. They are, as Nancy said, forever at their damned tea, and whatever it does to their tripes and tubing in the course of years, the waste of man-hours and money on this idiotic obsession is obvious and appalling.

An English friend told me that when two fumbling slobs came at

TRUMAN BID HURT BY SILENCE

President Truman now has put off for at least another month any public statement whether or not he intends to seek re-election. While this further delay is unlikely to affect his own chances, it might well weaken his power to influence the choice of a successor, should the President decide not to run.

No one doubts that if Mr. Truman wants the nomination he can get it, even if he doesn't speak until the last moment before the convention. But this business of selecting a successor suitable to the White House is more difficult.

Senator Kefauver of Tennessee has upset all hopes, if such do indeed exist, that plans for a successor could be worked out without serious interference. Kefauver is an earnest and energetic campaigner. His TV fame and his simple, direct manner of meeting people combine to assist his candidacy.

In New Hampshire, for instance, the professional Democrats not long ago were saying Kefauver would not poll more than 30 per cent of the popular vote in the coming March 11 primary. Now, after some heavy work by the senator in that state, the professionals are not so sure.

The situation in Wisconsin is even more irksome to the Truman regulars. Since a candidate's formal consent is required for entry into that primary (set for April 1), Mr. Truman's name will not appear. Kefauver has entered, and his only competition will be two "favorite son" slates standing in for the President.

But neither of the "sons" slated for the Democratic ballot is well known, and the conviction is strong that Kefauver will win over them handily.

A victory there and a good popular showing in New Hampshire might build toward a fairly impressive vote for Kefauver in the Illinois primary April 8. If that should happen, he would be a factor to be reckoned with in the event the President bowed out.

The senator will have real competition, of course, in Nebraska April 1. Senator Kerr of Oklahoma, reputed to be one of the President's favorites as a possible successor, has entered the Nebraska primary. His move is a double-purpose affair to hold the fort for Mr. Truman if he can, and to give his own candidacy some steam if the President declines.

Kerr is a genial, likable fellow and may cut Kefauver down in Nebraska. But there is no guarantee of it. In national fame Kefauver must be allowed a definite edge. Should he ride out this situation, too, Mr. Truman would have a big problem on his hands.

It would be a mistake, naturally, to minimize the value of the presidential blessing, whether it should fall on Kerr or Governor Stevenson of Illinois, or some other. But a Kefauver flushed by triumphs in early spring primaries and gathering popular momentum would be no easy barrier for Mr. Truman to hurdle.

Mr. Truman is a shrewd politician. He must be as aware as anyone of these prospects. If he is, then two conclusions are possible. One is that he has made up his mind to run again and thus isn't worried about Kefauver. The second is that he does not take the senator so seriously as some of his field lieutenants are beginning to do.

A President Truman bent on seeking reelection is on safe ground in keeping silent. But a President eager to withdraw but hopeful of designating his heir is getting into dangerous waters as the days go by.

And the entry of Sen. Richard Russell of Georgia into the Democratic sweepstakes doesn't help Mr. Truman's position any, either.

At the outset of the Korean fighting the government assumed control of the crude natural rubber market. This move enabled the government to control the world price on rubber and to assure an adequate stockpile of the precious material for American defense and civilian use. Now authorities feel that conditions have improved to the point where the crude natural rubber market can be handed back to private industry. Some controls remain in effect, according to the recent order, but these may eventually be relaxed.

HOLLYWOOD'S COMMUNISTS

The motion picture industry is excited over the 1951 annual report of the 1951 House Committee on Un-American Activities which calls attention to sustainable conclusions. The committee's report stated:

". . . It is not the committee's purpose to destroy this investment. It must be remembered, however, that the American public also has an investment in Hollywood for, prior to the advent of television, the American public relied almost solely upon Hollywood motion pictures for visual, dramatic presentation. It must be realized that moving pictures have a tremendous emotional effect upon the audience which views them. The same is true of television shows. . . . The committee hopes that its investigation of Hollywood will have a far-reaching effect and prevent a large-scale future Communist infiltration of the television industry. . . ."

Two points of view have long existed in the motion picture industry:

1. That every disclosure of Communist activities in Hollywood hurts the industry. Therefore anyone who raises this issue is an enemy of the industry. In keeping with this concept, so-caled Hollywood statesmen—that is, some lawyers, public relations counsel and front men for the industry—have opposed such organizations as the Motion Picture Alliance for the Preservation of American Ideals which since 1944 has actively been fighting the activities of the Communists in Hollywood. The general industry attitude has been that the anti-Communists were a greater nuisance than the Communists. The Reds have taken full advantage of that.

The House Committee on Un-American Activities calls attention to this undeniable fact:

"The need for remedial action was amply demonstrated when it was found that four Communist-front organizations, which had operated in the state of California, had received approximately $1,000,000 from members of the Hollywood motion-picture industry. It had long been known that Hollywood was one of the principal sources of funds for the Communist Party of the United States."

2. Some companies have, on their own, cleaned house, often at considerable cost. It can be said that Repubic, RKO, and Warner Brothers have done most to keep their studios clean. It is a tough job because Communists do not readily expose themselves and the best technique for their discovery is an unpleasant one, namely, the searching of records of activity and the assumption of guilt by association. The latter method of exposure is particularly unpalatable, even to violent anti-Communists, but it has been the net that has caught most of the fish.

Such companies as Paramount, Columbia, and Twentieth Century-Fox have, in recent months, been facing the issue practically, on the sound business assumption that pictures in which Communists or "Fronters" have been writers, producers, directors, actors encounter unusual sales resistance and therefore are defective products.

The process of eliminating Communists meets many impediments, including some decisions of the courts. I shall list some of the major impediments:

1. The general ignorance on the part of leading men in this industry of political ideas and activities, the meaning of Communism and the violent rejection of it by most Americans.

2. The alleged box-office appeal of certain writers and actors. The allegation has not been sustained by receipts during 1950 and 1951.

3. The natural desire to protect property values in already manufactured pictures, in "big names" which cost huge sums to build up, and in investments in pictures currently being shown.

4. Contractual arrangements which the courts will protect.

The answer is that the country will not tolerate the employment of Communists and their allies in this and related industries. An actor, writer, etc., knows why he joined the Communists, who recruited him, and he knows whether he has engaged in any other activities which are not on the record. All he needs to do is to clear his own record, either by writing a letter to his company, preferably notarized, or to the House Committee or to the Motion Picture Alliance. He can always arrange to have a copy of the record circulated to most of the active anti-Communist groups in the country. He needs no lawyer, no public relations counsel, no "clearer."

Many who would like to clear themselves resist the temptation to go straight for one of three reasons:

1. The unwillingness to appear to have been foolish;
2. They do not like to name others;
3. The fear that the industry itself will not give them employment.

That Body of Yours

100 PATIENTS WITH HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE

It is true that heart strokes (coronary thrombosis) and brain strokes (apoplexy) are generally caused by high blood pressure or weak walls of the blood vessel. We know that some of these cases of coronary thrombosis and apoplexy die during the first attack. We also know that many of them have several attacks and live for many years, perhaps dying of some other ailment.

In The American Heart Journal, St. Louis, is given the life history of 100 patients with high blood pressure followed from the time of onset of their first attack until death. The group included 38 men and 62 women. Twenty-six had a family history of high blood pressure (hypertensive vascular disease). The average age of onset of high blood pressure was 32 and the average age at death was 51. Hypertensive vascular disease usually begins in early adult life and has an average duration of about 20 years.

The primary or original cause of death was not known in 41 of the patients. Congestive heart failure was the cause of death in 19 patients, accidents to the blood vessels of the brain in 17, failure of the heart muscle in 17, urine in the blood in six.

Although the heart is a very simple organ, many complications may be present, and the time of onset and the intensity of any given complications vary enormously. Nevertheless, measured in terms of single complications, the average survival of patients after the discovery of high blood pressure with complications, was five or more years.

When the patient knows he has high blood pressure but will live an average of 20 years with it, he can, under his doctor's supervision and following his suggestions as to diet, rest and exercise, prolong life for as long as he would live if he did not have high blood pressure.

The rules for safety in high blood pressure are an hour's rest during the day and an extra hour at night, light meals with nourishing food, and light daily exercise such as walking. Sometimes the physician prescribes quieting drugs, not to lower the blood pressure but to prevent its getting higher due to fear and anxiety.

--And There Was Light

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

San Juan, Puerto Rico — The U.S. Senate has now heard charges from three different senators that Puerto Rico's Georgetown University-educated Governor Luis Munoz Marin is dictator of that land. The accusing senators are Brewster of Maine, Butler of Maryland, both Republicans, and Johnston of South Carolina, a Democrat.

Their charges illustrate a new technique in what is supposed to be the most illustrious legislative body in the world—the U.S. Senate. For what the public doesn't realize when it listens to these speeches is that the man behind them is a South Carolina contractor who owes $1,000,000 in back taxes to the Puerto Rican government.

The Puerto Rican public does realize this, however, and reactions here have been highly prejudicial to the prestige of the U.S. Congress. Whereas congress is supposed to set the highest moral and legislative standards for the western hemisphere, actually the speeches of these three senators are regarded in Puerto Rico as little more than blackmail. In brief, if the Puerto Rican government doesn't forgive $1,000,000 in taxes owed by L. D. Long, South Carolina contractor, then the U.S. Senate will investigate Puerto Rico.

At a time when we are trying to encourage clean government throughout Pan-America this does not go down well in the Caribbean.

Housing Projects

Meanwhile, L. D. Long of Charleston, S. C., becomes one of the most famous characters in Puerto Rico. It is doubtful whether Franklin D. Roosevelt or Harry S. Truman are better known, though their reputations here are more favorable.

L. D. Long is a likable, hustling contractor who has put up more FHA housing projects in Puerto Rico than any other man in history — housing that was badly needed though opinions differ regarding its durability.

Long and his family have been staunch supporters and contributors to the campaigns of Senator Olin Johnston, who, aside from his current proposal to probe alleged tyranny in Puerto Rico, has been a hardworking and conscientious senator.

Shortly after he began operations in Puerto Rico, Long started to apply northern political techniques to the island and dropped in on Munoz Marin, then a candidate for governor, with a large war of greenbacks bulging from his pockets totaling $25,000. These he offered to Munoz as a campaign contribution for the Popular Democratic party.

Munoz declined.

"Our campaigns do not cost that much," he said. "Besides, if I accepted that much money from one man the voters might hold it against me and I would be defeated."

Long however insisted. Finally Munoz told him to take the money to the secretary of the Popular Democratic party, get a receipt, and they would use the money if they needed it. If not, it would be returned. Long did so. At the end of the campaign—which incidentally elected a native, Munoz, for the first time in Puerto Rico's history—the money was returned.

Tax Trouble

The trouble over Long's taxes arose when former Governor Jesus Pinero, a Washington appointee, told Long that his petition for tax exemption would be favorably considered. Ex-Governor Pinero has now gone to work for Long. But even so the ex-governor does not state that Long was promised tax exemption but rather that his petition would be considered favorably.

Since then the question of Long's taxes have gone before the U. S. District Court and the U. S. Court of Appeals in Boston. Each decided against him. Though these first appeals were taken to U. S. courts, Long has now gone back to try his hand in the Puerto Rican courts, where the case now stands.

Whether he is right or wrong, Long certainly has been given every right of judicial appeal not usually available in a dictatorship, which he and his Senate friends now claim exists in Puerto Rico.

Meanwhile he has gone over the heads of the courts as dictators sometimes do to try his case in the U. S. Senate—which has left a decidedly bad taste in Puerto Rico.

Furthermore, he has employed certain other techniques not considered good practice in democracies to promote FHA housing in the island.

These techniques recently caused the Federal Housing Administration in Washington to fire its FHA representative in Puerto Rico, Frederick D'A. Carpenter.

FHA Okays

Long has now financed a total of $51,000,000 worth of houses and apartments through FHA in Puerto Rico and has exhibited a surprising facility for getting FHA okays.

It is interesting that FHA Representative Carpenter informed the Rockefeller group, an organization trying to help the low-cost housing situation in the Caribbean, that only 200 housing units were needed in San Juan. But only four months later the same Carpenter okayed 3,800 housing units for Long to be financed through FHA.

The reason for Carpenter's interest in helping Long could have had some connection with the fact that a lady who registered on the S.S. Puerto Rico passenger list on June 14, 1951, as "Mrs. Rosario P. De Carpenter" is an officer in three of Long's subsidiaries. The lady is Rosario Pelaez, whose daughter has been adopted by Carpenter and who is vice president of Caparra Commercial Corporation and Caparra Grocery Stores and is also secretary treasurer of Caparra Pharmacy. All these are owned by Long who paid "Mrs. Rosario P. De Carpenter" a regular salary.

After the discovery of this interesting connection between L. D. Long and the FHA representative who okayed $51,000,000 worth of housing for Long, the FHA fired Carpenter.

Naturally, all this is well known to the people of Puerto Rico. So when a U. S. senator takes the floor of the world's most important deliberative body to criticize Puerto Rican democracy it doesn't help the so-called democratic system which is supposed to prevail in the U. S. Senate.

Machine Tool Maker Fears United States Plan Is Choking All Industry

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, March 3—The so-called "stretchout" of America's defense program is due to no small extent to the fact that the machine-tool program was bungled. That is why America has not realized her goals in aircraft, in tanks, or in other major items of the armament program. But it is the long-range impact of government action—its ultimate effect on industry as a whole—that gives the machine-tool builders of today basis for anxiety.

It is interesting to note the comments made by Charles J. Stilwell, president of the Warner & Swasey Company, of Cleveland—not the largest but one of the important machine-tool companies of the country. He says in his report to stockholders just released:

"On the basis of present trends, the machine-tool industry is rapidly becoming a 'captive' of government.

"The government dictates from whom orders may be taken and to whom the finished machines may be shipped. The government controls the materials that may be purchased, and even specifies the finish of the product. The government dictates what wages and salaries may be paid. The government sets the prices and so decides how much profit can be made. After the profit has been figured, excess-profits taxes take their toll. Then, from what is left, renegotiation finally determines arbitrarily what the company may retain.

"Every one will agree that some of these controls are necessary in a period such as this. Much of the situation making some of the controls necessary could have been avoided, but for all practical purposes this industry is involved in an all-out war.

"Ours is a highly competitive industry and is the foundation of the American competitive system. Through engineering competition it forces the benefits of our great industrial system out into the American standard of living.

"What will happen to competition if the tools of competition are withheld or are built only as directed by government, allocated by government, and owned by government? Competing companies seeking to gain larger sales and broader markets by cutting costs and prices will not be able to go into the open market to buy the machine tools needed to do this job. Machine-tool companies will be assured of business arising from government—but industry in general will be slowly starved of the tools upon which have been founded the American standard of living and our industrial might.

"Certainly, looking toward the future, government decontrol of machine tools as soon as possible would seem to be imperative.

"Tax incentives on behalf of modernization, plus decontrol of the machine-tool industry, would reverse the present trend toward concentration in government of ownership of the tools of production. Privately owned companies, instead of government owned, would buy the machine tools and keep the productive equipment up to date. Privately owned companies would become the arsenals of the free democracy. These privately owned plants would be utilized for which the tools were designed; and, a continuing market thereby assured, the machine-tool industry would make certain its readiness to meet any national emergency."

Mr. Stillwell's own report shows, incidentally, that with a jump in sales from about $18,000,000 in 1950 to about $33,000,000 in 1951, the net earnings after taxes increased only $250,000. This was because of the Federal tax increase. Yet the company had to borrow considerably to take care of increased inventories required.

Something of the same sort is happening in aircraft. The Douglas Aircraft Company shows a 75 per cent increase in sales and a tax bite amounting to $14.65 per share in 1951, as compared with a tax bite of $7.90 per share in 1950. Yet, to take care of the needed expansion desired by the government, the Douglas company had to borrow huge sums from the banks to finance receivables, plant property and inventories.

These risks incurred in borrowing huge sums or in trying to raise equity capital cannot be undertaken indefinitely by American business with a rapidly diminishing profit margin. Unless there is a reasonable return on investments, the end result may be that the aircraft business may become "captive" too.

They must be smiling in Moscow as they see America's powerful industrial machine throttled by a bungling government, which is ignoring incentives as well as investor confidence — the keystone to industrial expansion.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Rome—The impression prevailing in the United States that the union movement in Great Britain is a decent, genteel, law-abiding exercise of the right of collective bargaining by voluntary members does not survive close inspection or regular perusal of the English papers over a length of time. It is in some particulars even more impudent toward the legislature and the whole people than our monstrosities, but it is now losing ground after ruling and wellnigh ruining the country through the long Socialist administration. The British public has yet to hear of the practical criminality of the spectacular gangsters of the A.F. of L., some few of whom have been jailed away notwithstanding the apathy of the executive council of that master syndicate of the criminal world which Senator Kefauver so artfully ignored.

The British papers have a peculiar taste in American news and a peculiar standard of celebrity. They are childish over Hollywood hams whom they call cinema stars and, as I reported a few weeks before she became Queen Elizabeth, they let the young princess get maneuvered into a degrading exhibition at which Frank Sinatra and the woman for whom he quit his wife and three children got top billing. Sinatra would have outscored the heiress to the British throne except that Lucky Luciano's melodious friend lost his temper and laid an egg. The London Express gave Sinatra hysterical play, but a reaction set in right afterward. Persons in the royal household, the Washington Embassy and Scotland Yard caught hell for neglecting to save the royal prestige from this exploitation.

The British union racket went into a steep decline after the insurrectionary general strike of 1926. The open shop became a shining institution symbolic of the Englishman's right to raise whiskers, go barefoot, wear red, long-handled drawers over his trousers or otherwise indulge his lawful whims. His right not to contribute to the campaign funds of the Labor Party was confirmed in a law which made the unioneers come to each man or woman individually for a voluntary gift. When the unions took over the government they changed this back to the old form whereby the individual has to take the initiative and record his intention to abstain. This is much less comfortable to the worker than the other way. The coercive intent of the racketeers in charge, some of whom actually are peers and knights of various degrees, while publicly denied, is privately acknowledged with a smirk.

There is not much difference between their unioneers and ours under the skin. They lie with a straight face, they don't give a dam for their country where a union issue is involved, and they persecute the poor dumb working stiff to the extent that the law and the people charged with enforcing the law permit.

Their workers also are a good deal like ours in their attitude toward unions and union bosses. The British ignoranti, like our own sheep, cherish their unions because under union rule a half-hour's work in an hour's time by the clock is the accepted standard and petty time-killing, stalling and whistle-jumping tricks enjoy almost legal status for lack of organized opposition among the employers.

A few weeks ago, Nancy Astor, who is much more intelligent than the dolts to whom she had to appeal for votes by pretty clowning and repartee, hauled off and said that although she was an ardent dry she had to admit that tea, not gin, booze or beer, was the curse of Britain.

She was right. The silly spectacle of a half dozen street laborers or teamsters standing around with morose expressions straining tea through old bill mustaches on the street while the Russian drives his slaves 15 hours a day on carp soup and turnips is almost unbelievable at first glimpse. They are, as Nancy said, forever at their damned tea, and whatever it does to their tripes and tubing in the course of years, the waste of man-hours and money on this idiotic obsession is obvious and appalling.

An English friend told me that when two fumbling slobs came at

Woodstock Fire Company Meeting

Woodstock, March 4 — At the regular monthly meeting of the Woodstock Fire Company No. 1, Joseph Holdridge, representative of the Woodstock Masonic Square Club, attended to ascertain the possibility of using the Fire Hall for meetings of the Masonic Square Club. Considerable discussion then took place concerning the rental of the Fire Hall for such a purpose. It was announced that a donation of $5 was given to the Heart fund.

A certificate, designed by David Fairbanks, will be presented to Reginald J. Lapo, retired fire chief.

Two new members were welcomed to the Fire Company. They were Albert Moore, of the Woodstock Jewelers, and Samuel Stern.

Mervin Doremus announced that in the near future a fire school will be held at the Woodstock Fire House. There will be three different groups of classes, basic, intermediate and advanced. Each class will be of 15 hours duration, divided into five nights, each class lasting three hours. It will be necessary for a fireman to go through all three classes to obtain a certificate. Classes will begin at 8 p. m., dates to be announced later.

Ruellan Paintings Are Well Received by Critics

Woodstock, March 4—Andree Ruellan, noted artist of Shady, whose one-woman show of paintings opened February 25, at the Kraushaar gallery in New York, was well-received by the critics. Reproductions of two of her paintings now on view in the show appeared in both the New York Times, and her well-known painting Nomads, which was seen last season at the Woodstock Art Gallery, was reproduced in the art section of the New York Herald Tribune.

Concerning the show, Carlyle Burrows wrote: "The paintings being shown at the Kraushaar gallery by Andree Ruellan are selected from her work of the past four years—years marked by change and development. Her present work is a long way from the pleasantly illustrative style she engaged in in earlier years, with special satisfactions accruing from a generous sympathy for feminine and youthful life. As fantasy has entered the arena of popular affairs, Miss Ruellan has seen in it a means for her own youthful and buoyant vision to recreate itself. 'Nomads,' thus, is a particularly apt illustration of her ability to embody a serious thought in symbolism of a pleasant, imaginative nature, while 'Night Roofs' and 'Mardi Gras' in varying mood reveal further the extent with which her art has changed in style, gaining much from freedom of expression and experiment."

20th Century American Paintings Exhibition

Woodstock, March 4—Only one artist associated with this art colony is represented in the 20th Century American Paintings exhibition currently on view at the Wildenstein Gallery, 19 East 64th street, N. Y. The exhibition of paintings, chosen by art critics of the Art Digest, the Art News, Life, the Magazine of Art, the New York Herald Tribune, the New York Times, and Time Magazine, was organized for a special purchase fund of the Whitney Museum of American Art, to be spent within a year for works of living American artists.

The painting, Elinor, Jean and Anna, painted in 1920, lent by the Albright Art Gallery, Buffalo, by the late George Bellows, formerly of Woodstock is one of the catalogue illustrations chosen by the editors of Life. His paintings, Stag at Sharkey's and Picnic were also chosen by the critic of Time Magazine, Alexander Eliot, but were unobtainable for the show. Also unobtainable, was Woodstock painter, Sigmund Menkes, 'Repose, chosen by the New York Herald Tribune critics, Carlyle Burrows and Emily Genauer.

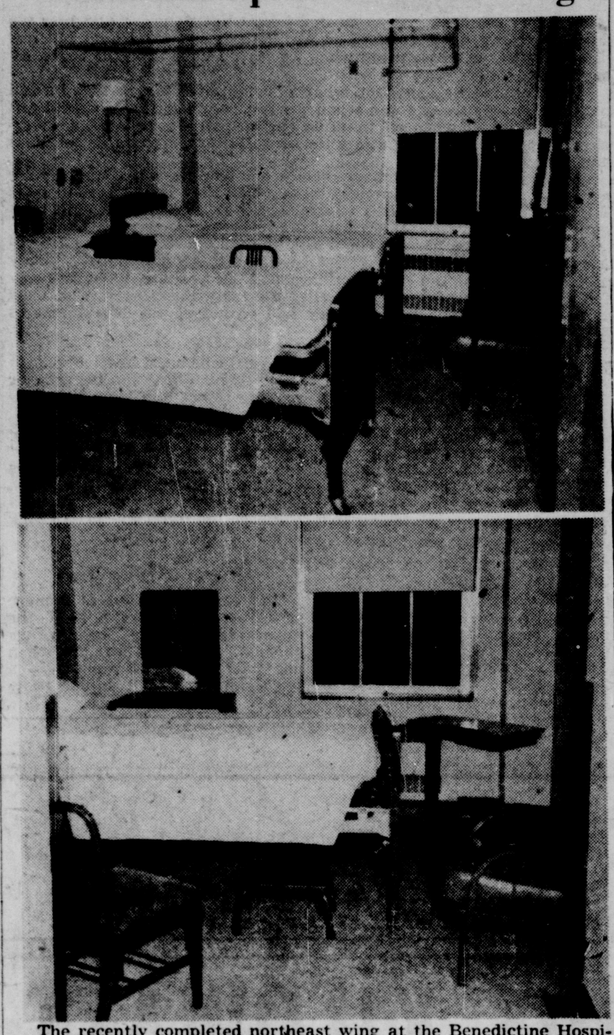
Benedictine Opens Northeast Wing



The recently completed northeast wing at the Benedictine Hospital was opened today. The wing includes an X-ray department on the ground floor, pediatric department, second floor, four private and four semi-private rooms on the third floor and four operating rooms on the fourth floor. The X-ray and operating departments are equipped with the most modern equipment available. The new rooms are already occupied.

Comfort and beauty combined with efficiency have been primary factors in the furnishing and decorating of the new rooms, comprising various color schemes. An example is the private room shown in the lower photo. Terra cotta and grey trimmed furniture has been combined with grey walls. The semi-private rooms typical of the one shown in the upper photo are equipped with walnut furniture and walls in various pastel shades, including grey, blue, and green with matching curtains.

Work is progressing on all floors in the new southwest wing at the hospital in preparation for the dedication by His Eminence Francis Cardinal Spellman, Archbishop of New York, Saturday, April 26. (Freeman photos)

Artist Christy, 79, Is Heart Victim

New York, March 4 (AP)—Howard Chandler Christy, 79, magazine illustrator and portrait painter, died yesterday of a heart ailment after a two-month illness.

He had spent much of a lifetime portraying the American girl. His canvas beauties were famous as illustrations for magazines and books.

But Christy also acquired fame for his more serious work.

He painted portraits of some of the world's best known people of his time, among them Presidents Harding and Coolidge. His "Signing of the Constitution," which portrays 40 historical figures, hangs in the Capitol in Washington.

Fresh off an Ohio farm, he first entered the public eye during the Spanish-American War with sketches of Theodore Roosevelt's Rough Riders.

He also portrayed the American serviceman in both world wars.

Funeral services will be held Thursday. Burial will be in Westchester county, N. Y.

Now there are only one or two left. His uninflated bounty on the five pelts will amount to $510, he said.

Producer Gosch Takes Settlement

Los Angeles, March 4 (AP)—Theatrical producer Martin A. Gosch, who complained that his reputation was injured during a radio debate in 1947, has accepted an out of court settlement of his million dollar defamation suit. The amount of the settlement was not disclosed.

Defendants in the action were Mrs. Lela Rogers, mother of actress Ginger Rogers, the estate of producer Sam Wood, writers James McGuiness, Morris Ryskind, Robert Arthur and Ayn Rand O'Connor.

Gosch's suit, dropped from the court calendar yesterday, asserted he was defamed during a radio debate in which Mrs. Rogers allegedly referred to a play he was producing as "following the Communist party line."

Emmett Lavery, writer of the play, "Gentleman from Athens," won a $30,000 court judgment from the defendants last August as the result of a similar suit.

Medallions Completed

Washington, March 4 (AP)—Portrait medallions of President and Mrs. Truman have been completed and will be cast in bronze. In showing them to reporters yesterday, White House Secretary Joseph Short said the President commissioned the medallions of himself and Mrs. Truman and separate medallions of each. Short emphasized the work was privately arranged for the President's family and not for official use. The medallions, about 10 inches in diameter, were made by sculptor Paul Vincze, 43, a native of Hungary and now a British subject.

Woodstock Fire Company Meeting

Woodstock, March 4 — At the regular monthly meeting of the Woodstock Fire Company No. 1, Joseph Holdridge, representative of the Woodstock Masonic Square Club, attended to ascertain the possibility of using the Fire Hall for meetings of the Masonic Square Club. Considerable discussion then took place concerning the rental of the Fire Hall for such a purpose. It was announced that a donation of $5 was given to the Heart fund.

A certificate, designed by David Fairbanks, will be presented to Reginald J. Lapo, retired fire chief.

Two new members were welcomed to the Fire Company. They were Albert Moore, of the Woodstock Jewelers, and Samuel Stern.

Mervin Doremus announced that in the near future a fire school will be held at the Woodstock Fire House. There will be three different groups of classes, basic, intermediate and advanced. Each class will be of 15 hours duration, divided into five nights, each class lasting three hours. It will be necessary for a fireman to go through all three classes to obtain a certificate. Classes will begin at 8 p. m., dates to be announced later.

Ruellan Paintings Are Well Received by Critics

Woodstock, March 4—Andree Ruellan, noted artist of Shady, whose one-woman show of paintings opened February 25, at the Kraushaar gallery in New York, was well-received by the critics. Reproductions of two of her paintings now on view in the show appeared in both the New York Times, and her well-known painting Nomads, which was seen last season at the Woodstock Art Gallery, was reproduced in the art section of the New York Herald Tribune.

Concerning the show, Carlyle Burrows wrote: "The paintings being shown at the Kraushaar gallery by Andree Ruellan are selected from her work of the past four years—years marked by change and development. Her present work is a long way from the pleasantly illustrative style she engaged in in earlier years, with special satisfactions accruing from a generous sympathy for feminine and youthful life. As fantasy has entered the arena of popular affairs, Miss Ruellan has seen in it a means for her own youthful and buoyant vision to recreate itself. 'Nomads,' thus, is a particularly apt illustration of her ability to embody a serious thought in symbolism of a pleasant, imaginative nature, while 'Night Roofs' and 'Mardi Gras' in varying mood reveal further the extent with which her art has changed in style, gaining much from freedom of expression and experiment."

20th Century American Paintings Exhibition

Woodstock, March 4—Only one artist associated with this art colony is represented in the 20th Century American Paintings exhibition currently on view at the Wildenstein Gallery, 19 East 64th street, N. Y. The exhibition of paintings, chosen by art critics of the Art Digest, the Art News, Life, the Magazine of Art, the New York Herald Tribune, the New York Times, and Time Magazine, was organized for a special purchase fund of the Whitney Museum of American Art, to be spent within a year for works of living American artists.

The painting, Elinor, Jean and Anna, painted in 1920, lent by the Albright Art Gallery, Buffalo, by the late George Bellows, formerly of Woodstock is one of the catalogue illustrations chosen by the editors of Life. His paintings, Stag at Sharkey's and Picnic were also chosen by the critic of Time Magazine, Alexander Eliot, but were unobtainable for the show. Also unobtainable, was Woodstock painter, Sigmund Menkes, 'Repose,' chosen by the New York Herald Tribune critics, Carlyle Burrows and Emily Genauer.

Mrs. Smith is preparing a biographical outline of several of the famous artists whose work is now on view at the gallery to assist the group in their painting studies. Among the artists about whom specific information was requested were Andree Ruellan, John Taylor and Andrew Dasburg.

Will Delay in Trial

New York, March 4 (AP)—Sixteen secondary Communist leaders have won a delay in their trial until March 31. They were to have gone on trial yesterday, but Federal Judge Edward J. Dimock granted their plea for a postponement so they can have more time to plan their defense.

Benedictine Opens Northeast Wing

The recently completed northeast wing at the Benedictine Hospital was opened today. The wing includes an X-ray department on the ground floor, pediatric department, second floor, four private and four semi-private rooms on the third floor and four operating rooms on the fourth floor. The X-ray and operating departments are equipped with the most modern equipment available. The new rooms are already occupied.

Comfort and beauty combined with efficiency have been primary factors in the furnishing and decorating of the new rooms, comprising various color schemes. An example is the private room shown in the lower photo. Terra cotta and grey trimmed furniture has been combined with grey walls. The semi-private rooms typical of the one shown in the upper photo are equipped with walnut furniture and walls in various pastel shades, including grey, blue, and green with matching curtains.

Work is progressing on all floors in the new southwest wing at the hospital in preparation for the dedication by His Eminence Francis Cardinal Spellman, Archbishop of New York, Saturday, April 26. (Freeman photos)

Artist Christy, 79, Is Heart Victim

New York, March 4 (AP)—Howard Chandler Christy, 79, magazine illustrator and portrait painter, died yesterday of a heart ailment after a two-month illness.

He had spent much of a lifetime portraying the American girl. His canvas beauties were famous as illustrations for magazines and books.

But Christy also acquired fame for his more serious work.

He painted portraits of some of the world's best known people of his time, among them Presidents Harding and Coolidge. His "Signing of the Constitution," which portrays 40 historical figures, hangs in the Capitol in Washington.

Fresh off an Ohio farm, he first entered the public eye during the Spanish-American War with sketches of Theodore Roosevelt's Rough Riders.

He also portrayed the American serviceman in both world wars.

Funeral services will be held Thursday. Burial will be in Westchester county, N. Y.

Mountain Lions Increase

Kernville, Calif. (AP) — Professional hunter Ronnie Vaughan says California mountain lions are on the increase because bounty prices have not kept up with inflation. Vaughan brought in five pelts recently from the nearby mountains to prove the big cats are abundant. Fifteen years ago there were about 30 professional hunters, says Vaughan. Now there are only one or two left. His uninflated bounty on the five pelts will amount to $510, he said.

Commercialize Shamrock

Shannon, Ireland (AP) — Love of the Ould Sod and trans-Atlantic cargo planes have given birth to a new Irish industry: commercial shamrock-raising. Shamrock farmers harvest their crops a few days before St. Patrick's Day, ship the sprays to the United States by plane, where transplanted Irishmen proudly wear the green on Ireland's own day.

The Mature Parent

Tell Your Youngster All About Your Work

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

My friend writes fiction for a living. He has a six-year-old son named Matt.

Every day, since Matt can remember, he has seen his father disappear every morning after breakfast into what he calls The Room. It is a sacred place, to be approached only by his mother with a lunch tray or with the news of cosmic upheavals like earthquakes.

Matt never makes a noise near The Room. When he was three, his father told him why silence was important. In a drawer of his file cabinet, Matt's father said, there lived one Dennis, an Irish leprechaun of peevish temper who slept all day and had adventures all night.

Man-to-man, Matt's father put it to his son—this leprechaun operating on a night shift as he did would strongly resent any noise near The Room as an outrage upon his daytime slumbers.

Matt's reward for this consideration has been a pre-dinner report on Dennis' escapades the previous night. His uncritical attention has encouraged his father until he has come to regard himself as a fancier of leprechauns and an expert on fairies in general.

So he was alarmed a week or so ago when Matt interrupted a specially juicy account of Dennis' goings-on the night before. When Matt said, "Stop talking about Dennis, daddy," my friend was as astonished as Vishinsky might be were someone to get up in the United Nations and say, "Look, no more Russian proverbs, Mr. Vishinsky."

In the hush that followed, Matt said, "What magazine do you write for, daddy?"

My friend is fast on a comeback. When he had answered this question, his child said, "I want a copy of a magazine with a story you wrote in it. I want to show it to a boy at school. He said I was a liar and that you did not write stories for magazines because he never saw your name in one."

WE'RE THEIR EXAMPLES

Matt got his magazine. When he came home from school the next day, jubilant at having floored his father's detractor, he was invited into The Room and introduced to its mysteries. Was he disappointed when he found stacks of old magazines, instead of a testy Irish fairy in the file cabinet drawer? He didn't seem to be. His eyes shining with pride, he looked up at his father and said, "Gee, is your name in all those magazines, daddy?"

Children should be let in on our jobs, what they are and how we do them. If we want quiet when we come home, we should tell our little daughter what we mean when we say, "I have taken dictation all day."

We should tell a small son what a "commission" is, so that he will understand why we are sad when we fail to get one. We should tell them what we do when we think up angles, pull proofs, work new territories, prepare briefs, are late for consultations, sign on dotted lines and take inventory.

If we don't, they won't appreciate our courage when our cryptic activities go wrong or take pride in us when they go well. And this is a loss to them. We are their examples of how to behave when things go wrong and well.

Time was when parents could say, "I shall churn butter this morning" or "I shall prune the west acre this afternoon"—and the young ones saw us pound the churn and sweat at our pruning. When the cow fell sick or when an early frost killed the fruit, they understood. They came near and close because they had witnessed the investment of hope and effort.

It's not like that now. Let's remember.

Have you heard the story of the little girl who burst into tears when she heard that her father was "tied up" at his office and begged her mother to rush into town with the scissors to cut him loose?"

It's not a funny story.

Porpoises Enter Waters

Kitty Hawk, N. C. (AP)—An old superstition among seafaring folk is preventing the annihilation of a school of ocean porpoises in lower Currituck Sound. The playful and sleek porpoises, which usually live only in salt water, recently moved into the fresh waters of the sound. Commercial fishermen report they are seriously interfering with their take of fish. One old-timer estimated that a school of 20 porpoises consumes about 6,000 pounds of fish daily. Superstition says to kill a porpoise is "as unlucky as walking under a dozen ladders."

Opening lead—♣10

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

What should West choose as his opening lead in today's hand? He fell back on the un-bid suit, but was this a wise choice?

Let's not look at the result for a moment. Consider the bidding, for maybe it will indicate the killing opening lead.

North's double of one heart shows length in hearts and, almost surely, shortness in diamonds. North would not be in a hurry to double a bid of only one heart if he had length in his partner's suit.

South's bid of one spade shows shortness in hearts. Otherwise he would stand for the double of one heart. The rest of the bidding indicates that both partners have length in spades.

In short, the bidding tells you that each partner has trumps and that each is short in a different side suit. Obviously, declarer will plan to cross-ruff the hand. Just as obvious, the best defense is to lead trumps at every opportunity.

If West had opened a trump, East would have taken two trumps and led a third round. South would then struggle desperately, but he would eventually win only eight tricks.

When West opened the ten of clubs, thoughtlessly enough, the result was very different. Declarer won the first trick in dummy with the king of clubs, ruffed a heart, cashed the ace of diamonds, and ruffed a diamond in dummy.

The cross-ruff was now well under way. Declarer continued by ruffing a second heart in his hand and a second diamond in dummy. He next ruffed a third heart in his hand and returned to dummy with the jack of clubs to ruff a fourth heart in his hand.

By this time nine tricks were safely tucked away where the mice couldn't get at them. South tried the ace of clubs and found to his joy that both opponents followed suit. That was his tenth trick.

Just for art's sake, South now led a diamond and discarded a heart from dummy. East had only his three trumps left, so he had to ruff and lead spades to dummy's king. Thus South made his contract with an overtrick. The opening lead made a difference of three tricks.

We should tell a small son what a "commission" is, so that he will understand why we are sad when we fail to get one. We should tell them what we do when we think up angles, pull proofs, work new territories, prepare briefs, are late for consultations, sign on dotted lines and take inventory.

If we don't, they won't appreciate our courage when our cryptic activities go wrong or take pride in us when they go well. And this is a loss to them. We are their examples of how to behave when things go wrong and well.

Time was when parents could say, "I shall churn butter this morning" or "I shall prune the west acre this afternoon"—and the young ones saw us pound the churn and sweat at our pruning. When the cow fell sick or when an early frost killed the fruit, they understood. They came near and close because they had witnessed the investment of hope and effort.

It's not like that now. Let's remember.

Have you heard the story of the little girl who burst into tears when she heard that her father was "tied up" at his office and begged her mother to rush into town with the scissors to cut him loose?"

It's not a funny story.

Porpoises Enter Waters

Kitty Hawk, N. C. (AP)—An old superstition among seafaring folk is preventing the annihilation of a school of ocean porpoises in lower Currituck Sound. The playful and sleek porpoises, which usually live only in salt water, recently moved into the fresh waters of the sound. Commercial fishermen report they are seriously interfering with their take of fish. One old-timer estimated that a school of 20 porpoises consumes about 6,000 pounds of fish daily. Superstition says to kill a porpoise is "as unlucky as walking under a dozen ladders."

Opening lead—♣ 10

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

What should West choose as his opening lead in today's hand? He fell back on the un-bid suit, but was this a wise choice?

Let's not look at the result for a moment. Consider the bidding, for maybe it will indicate the killing opening lead.

North's double of one heart shows length in hearts and, almost surely, shortness in diamonds. North would not be in a hurry to double a bid of only one heart if he had length in his partner's suit.

South's bid of one spade shows shortness in hearts. Otherwise he would stand for the double of one heart. The rest of the bidding indicates that both partners have length in spades.

In short, the bidding tells you that each partner has trumps and that each is short in a different side suit. Obviously, declarer will plan to cross-ruff the hand. Just as obvious, the best defense is to lead trumps at every opportunity.

If West had opened a trump, East would have taken two trumps and led a third round. South would then struggle desperately, but he would eventually win only eight tricks.

When West opened the ten of clubs, thoughtlessly enough, the result was very different. Declarer won the first trick in dummy with the king of clubs, ruffed a heart, cashed the ace of diamonds, and ruffed a diamond in dummy.

The cross-ruff was now well under way. Declarer continued by ruffing a second heart in his hand and a second diamond in dummy. He next ruffed a third heart in his hand and returned to dummy with the jack of clubs to ruff a fourth heart in his hand.

By this time nine tricks were safely tucked away where the mice couldn't get at them. South tried the ace of clubs and found to his joy that both opponents followed suit. That was his tenth trick.

Just for art's sake, South now led a diamond and discarded a heart from dummy. East had only his three trumps left, so he had to ruff and lead spades to dummy's king. Thus South made his contract with an overtrick. The opening lead made a difference of three tricks.

NEW TWIST TO AN OLD WRINKLE—Now it's men in beauty salons getting their faces "lifted." In West Berlin, Germany, a male patron prepares to undergo treatment aimed at removing facial wrinkles. The new wrinkle-removing machine, called the "Nemectron," is supposed to rejuvenate worn-out muscles under the skin by "scientifically-controlled electrical impulses."

last to her little apartment to calcimine the walls for the first time in ten years, they had an apprentice, or "mate," whose theoretical job was to mix the goo and, in time, by studious observation, learn the subtle art of sloshing it on. Actually, however, she said, this bum put in practically all of his time brewing tea on her stove with her gas and fouling up the kitchen.

A few days ago, the railway unions frankly urged their members to hound and otherwise persecute all non-members as though they were brutes without rights, intelligence or even personal identity. The Daily Mail gave birth to a litter of porcupines over this terrible advocation of normal union bestiality and may have started a revulsion.

The Italian workman is a marvel. He revels in hard work and does his best on bread, garlic and tomatoes. He gets very little meat. Vino is poetically associated with these hardy sons of toil but many of them can't afford it on their wages and couldn't even under Mussolini who, though gone to momentary ingnomity, nevertheless lives in affectionate memory of more of them than you are supposed to think. Mussolini took the Communists and the union leeches off them and gave them pride and work. And he substituted political stability for the enervating uncertainty which is the best these Latin countries can do under the electoral system.

Millions of them idolized the Bum of Bums and if he had had the sense to keep his foreign policy within bounds he might have gone down as one of the greatest of all Italians. I believe they will put up monuments to him yet, when the brooding developments now on the horizon of our western world have spent their fury and the pieces are collected in the new era. The grotesque vanity of American bureaucrats, politicians and professional propagandists in insisting that we have discovered the absolute last word in the raffish mess that gave us Eleanor and Elliott, Truman, Vaughan, Green, Murray and Lewis, Frankfurter, Hiss and Bill O'Dwyer is, if one may so put it, quietly hilarious to the sly Italian. If he lets his hilarity overcome his discretion, however, he may lose his Marshall Plan and other doles so he does his laughing in private.

If F. D. Roosevelt ever is remembered for anything besides crimes done in petulance, flippancy and vanity, that memory will be a warm gratitude for his boondoggles in the first New Deal which, though wasteful follies, did give men shovels, if only to lean on, and a feeling that they were earning some money.

HOME BUREAU NEWS

Group Hears Talk

Twenty-five representative from Home Bureau units and child study clubs were present when Edward Pope, specialist in child development and family relationships from the New York State College of Home Economics at Ithaca, led a discussion of Making the Most of Our Differences at the First Baptist Church last week. The group concluded that people are different in many ways as to nationality, race, religion, language, section of community or country; they are different as to environment, education, occupation, culture, age, sex, coloring, personality, background; some are newcomers to this country, others have been here for many years, there are differences in physical and mental abilities.

It was generally agreed that people often find it difficult to accept differences in others because a lack of an awareness of the essence of the difference; that people are generally more secure with what is familiar and traditional and are reluctant to change. The person who offers a difference often offers a threat of change.

The speaker pointed out that frequently we oversimplify conclusions about certain groups of people and instead of recognizing the wealth and variety of gifts they represent we tend to carry mental stereotypes which in turn become obstacles to progress in making differences creative.

The group will continue investigation of this topic Wednesday at First Baptist Church when Mrs. Erna Boyce, specialist from the New York State College of Home Economics, will be the discussion leader.

New Group Organizes

The seventh Home Bureau unit in the town of Saugerties was organized recently at the home home of Mrs. Ernest A. Schirmer in West Saugerties. Mrs. Schirmer was elected chairman of the unit. Other officers were Mrs. Gus Hommel, vice-chairman; and Mrs. James E. Vickery, secretary-treasurer.

It was decided to hold the regular monthly meeting on the first Tuesday of each month. Plans were made for local leaders to attend training schools in Kingston. Mrs. Claude H. Post and Mrs. Robert J. Lynch, leaders for Making the Most of Our Differences; Mrs. Ernest A. Schirmer and Mrs. Gus Hommel, leaders for the rayon dress; Mrs. Ernest A. Schirmer, leader for decorative stitchery. The first project to be taught March 4 will be fabric gloves with Mrs. E. Myers from the neighboring Saxton unit acting as leader.

Lesson Scheduled

The first lesson in the making of a basic rayon dress for Ulster County Home Bureau unit leaders, will be held March 10 at the municipal auditorium in Kingston from 10 a. m. until 3 p. m. Other lessons are scheduled for March 24, 31 and April 7.

This series of four training lessons will equip leaders to teach classes in their own units. The lessons will include figure analysis, pattern selection, pattern alterations, fitting and garment finishes that are suitable for rayon materials. There will be discussion and a display of various types of rayon materials.

These lessons will be work meetings and each leader will make a basic rayon dress for herself that she can wear this spring.

For Normal Driving—It Loafs!

You cross over the boundary into another state—and there are the posted rules and regulations.

Maybe the daytime limit for passenger cars is "forty-five"—or "fifty-five." Or, maybe no limit at all... just your own good common sense and the general rules of safety.

Well, whatever the legal limit, your Golden Anniversary Cadillac is going to "loaf"!

Down under its hood is the most powerful engine ever used in a standard American passenger car. There's more power there than you'll ever need—except for emergency.

But don't think that great power doesn't work for you—even when you are driving within the legal limits!

It works for your safety... because a great reserve of power is a wonderful safeguard in most of the driving emergencies that present themselves.

It works for your comfort... because no car rides so well, or handles so superbly, as when it "coasts along," with a great percentage of its power still under the accelerator.

And it works for your peace of mind... for it is unbelievably comforting to know you have tremendous acceleration, should the necessity for it arise.

Of course, power has to be harnessed and handled in order to be your friend and servant.

So the Golden Anniversary Cadillac has superb new brakes—larger and more efficient—and designed and built to double the span of their endurance.

And those who want the ultimate in easy handling may order at extra cost Cadillac's new power steering that eliminates up to seventy-five per cent of normal steering effort.

It would take a volume to tell you all the things that have been done to make this a "car among cars."

But it will take but a mile or a minute for you to sense what it means in terms of pleasure and satisfaction.

It means something wonderful... too wonderful, in fact, to miss!

Better come in today—for a look—and a ride—and a revelation.

For Normal Driving—It Loafs!

You cross over the boundary into another state—and there are the posted rules and regulations.

Maybe the daytime limit for passenger cars is "forty-five"—or "fifty-five." Or, maybe no limit at all... just your own good common sense and the general rules of safety.

Well, whatever the legal limit, your Golden Anniversary Cadillac is going to "loaf"!

Down under its hood is the most powerful engine ever used in a standard American passenger car. There's more power there than you'll ever need—except for emergency.

But don't think that great power doesn't work for you—even when you are driving within the legal limits!

It works for your safety... because a great reserve of power is a wonderful safeguard in most of the driving emergencies that present themselves.

It works for your comfort... because no car rides so well, or handles so superbly, as when it "coasts along," with a great percentage of its power still under the accelerator.

And it works for your peace of mind... for it is unbelievably comforting to know you have tremendous acceleration, should the necessity for it arise.

Of course, power has to be harnessed and handled in order to be your friend and servant.

So the Golden Anniversary Cadillac has superb new brakes—larger and more efficient—and designed and built to double the span of their endurance.

And those who want the ultimate in easy handling may order at extra cost Cadillac's new power steering that eliminates up to seventy-five per cent of normal steering effort.

It would take a volume to tell you all the things that have been done to make this a "car among cars."

But it will take but a mile or a minute for you to sense what it means in terms of pleasure and satisfaction.

It means something wonderful... too wonderful, in fact, to miss!

Better come in today—for a look—and a ride—and a revelation.

Industrial Engineer Recommended as Panacea for Mothers

TODAY'S WOMEN
By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor

If Mom suffers from backache, bad temper and housemaid's knee, it might be a good idea to send her to an industrial engineer instead of a doctor.

Instead of a tonic, she probably needs a work simplification course.

An expert in these matters is Dr. Orpha Mae Thomas, associate professor of home economics at Teachers College, Columbia University, who combined household science with engineering for her Ph.D. and now teaches future teachers how to do things the easiest way.

Housewives' 10 Commandments

Dr. Thomas believes that every household should be organized on an assembly line plan, and demonstrates how it can be done with a list of "10 Commandments for Housewives":

1—Make a list of your household jobs. Check those most tiring and time consuming and figure out which can be eliminated, rearranged, simplified or combined. For instance, says this expert, new detergents make it possible to eliminate dish-drying. Stainless steel tableware for every day use eliminates silver polishing. Seersucker and terry cloth fabrics cut down ironing.

2—Survey your kitchen and rearrange it in work centers. You will find you have a mix center, where most of your baking and food preparation is done; a cook center, which is the stove; a cleanup center, which is the sink unit. If you can't move the big equipment, at least move small tools and supplies to the center where they are used. Your electric mixer, bowls, flour, sugar, shortening, spices, mixing spoons and packaged mixes should be stored at the mix center, preferably next to the refrigerator, where you are in easy reach of milk, butter, eggs and such. Cooking and baking utensils, of course, should be stored in or near the stove.

3—Simplify your work by buying things needing a minimum of care and preparation, such as packaged mixes, frozen foods, plastic place mats, paper napkins and so on.

4—Combine your jobs by using equipment for multiple handling, such as trays to carry a number of articles at once, wheel tables for transferring food and dishes from kitchen to table and back, laundry carts and so on. Oven meals can cut cooking time and effort.

5—Do as much of your work as possible sitting down. Adjustable ironing boards make it possible to sit while you iron. Kitchen counters and work tables should have stools or chairs of proper height.

Organize Work Centers

6—Have the utensils you use at each work center within easy reach. Your knife rack should be on the wall above your cutting board. Store heavy equipment at or near counter height. Saucepans should be hung on hooks above and around the stove.

7—Store electrical equipment at place of use. You don't have to put everything out of sight. Your kitchen is a workshop.

8—Duplicate equipment if you use it in several places. For instance, have a measuring cup at the sink and also one at the mix center. Keep a broom, dustmop and cleaning supplies upstairs as well as down.

9—Do something with both hands at once. Lift muffins from pan two at a time, take two cups at once from rack. If you are cutting green beans, cut a whole handful on your board, not two or three at a time.

10—Arrange all your work to progress in one direction—from pan to mix center to stove, with no waste motions. Dishwashing should be arranged on a production line basis, usually from left to right, with counter for stacked dishes, wash sink, rinse sink and drying rack in a compact straight line.

If Mom suffers from backache, bad temper and housemaid's knee, it might be a good idea to send her to an industrial engineer instead of a doctor.

Instead of a tonic, she probably needs a work simplification course.

An expert in these matters is Dr. Orpha Mae Thomas, associate professor of home economics at Teachers College, Columbia University, who combined household science with engineering for her Ph.D. and now teaches future teachers how to do things the easiest way.

Housewives' 10 Commandments

Dr. Thomas believes that every household should be organized on an assembly line plan, and demonstrates how it can be done with a list of "10 Commandments for Housewives":

1—Make a list of your household jobs. Check those most tiring and time consuming and figure out which can be eliminated, rearranged, simplified or combined. For instance, says this expert, new detergents make it possible to eliminate dish-drying. Stainless steel tableware for every day use eliminates silver polishing. Seersucker and terry cloth fabrics cut down ironing.

2—Survey your kitchen and rearrange it in work centers. You will find you have a mix center, where most of your baking and food preparation is done; a cook center, which is the stove; a cleanup center, which is the sink unit. If you can't move the big equipment, at least move small tools and supplies to the center where they are used. Your electric mixer, bowls, flour, sugar, shortening, spices, mixing spoons and packaged mixes should be stored at the mix center, preferably next to the refrigerator, where you are in easy reach of milk, butter, eggs and such. Cooking and baking utensils, of course, should be stored in or near the stove.

3—Simplify your work by buying things needing a minimum of care and preparation, such as packaged mixes, frozen foods, plastic place mats, paper napkins and so on.

4—Combine your jobs by using equipment for multiple handling, such as trays to carry a number of articles at once, wheel tables for transferring food and dishes from kitchen to table and back, laundry carts and so on. Oven meals can cut cooking time and effort.

5—Do as much of your work as possible sitting down. Adjustable ironing boards make it possible to sit while you iron. Kitchen counters and work tables should have stools or chairs of proper height.

Organize Work Centers

6—Have the utensils you use at each work center within easy reach. Your knife rack should be on the wall above your cutting board. Store heavy equipment at or near counter height. Saucepans should be hung on hooks above and around the stove.

7—Store electrical equipment at place of use. You don't have to put everything out of sight. Your kitchen is a workshop.

8—Duplicate equipment if you use it in several places. For instance, have a measuring cup at the sink and also one at the mix center. Keep a broom, dustmop and cleaning supplies upstairs as well as down.

9—Do something with both hands at once. Lift muffins from pan two at a time, take two cups at once from rack. If you are cutting green beans, cut a whole handful on your board, not two or three at a time.

10—Arrange all your work to progress in one direction—from pan to mix center to stove, with no waste motions. Dishwashing should be arranged on a production line basis, usually from left to right, with counter for stacked dishes, wash sink, rinse sink and drying rack in a compact straight line.

Good Taste Today

by Emily Post

(Author of 'Etiquette,' 'Children Are People,' etc.)

MOTHERS ARE USUALLY RIGHT

A young girl writes me: "A man whom I have been dating quite often this past year sent me a watch on my birthday. My mother thinks it would be in very bad taste for me to accept it and insists that I return it. I'm afraid if I do this it will hurt his feelings and perhaps be the end of our friendship. Would it be a breach of etiquette to keep the watch, and if so, how can I return it without hurting his feelings?"

A girl is not supposed to accept valuable presents from a man unless she is engaged to him. If you explained that you are broken-hearted not to be able to keep it, but that your mother will not permit you to do so, he couldn't do other than hold you in respect for your unwillingness to do something of which your mother disapproves.

If Dish Was Unusual

Dear Mrs. Post: At dinner the other evening, I encountered a very strange custom. At least it was strange to me and I wonder if you have ever heard of it? When ordering a dish that is different from what the others at table are having, is it proper to ask them if they would like to taste it? The people I was dining with seemed to think that this was a very important part of correct table manners. What is your opinion of this custom?

Answer: I have never heard of this custom before, and handing out little portions of the dish that you alone have ordered would be unthinkable. If it was a very unusual dish and some one person upon seeing it showed great curiosity about it, it might be a natural impulse to proffer him (or her) a taste.

A Dentist's Visiting Cards

Dear Mrs. Post: How should the professional cards of a dentist be engraved, and how the personal cards that include his wife?

Answer: Professional cards would be John Henry Smith followed by the letters of his degree, and his personal cards Dr. and Mrs. John Henry Smith.

When walking on the street, should the gentleman cling to the curb side? This is one of the many questions on manners in public answered by Mrs. Post in leaflet E-15. Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to her, c/o this paper, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

Civilian Defense

Milton Man Named Air OP Coordinator

At a recent meeting of the county and town civil defense directors held at the Court house, Col. Allan L. Hanstein, county director, announced the appointment of Lt. Col. James R. Clarke of Milton to the post of Air Observation Post Coordinator of Ulster county. He will be attached to the staff of Deputy County Director Cluett Schantz.

Col. Clarke, United States Air Corps, retired, was on active duty with the 2nd Air Division of the 8th Air Force in England from 1942 to 1945. He will have under his command the supervisors and key personnel of each of the observation posts in the county.

At the meeting the matter bringing the civil defense workers under insurance coverage was discussed and each town director was asked to complete a questionnaire showing the various classifications of defense volunteers in their town. These workers will be enrolled by their town director and a report made to the county director. Under the plan volunteer workers will be brought insurance and given complete coverage. This will include auxiliary police, public employes in defense activities, rescue workers, etc.

Matter Under Study

Sheriff Schantz and Fire Coordinator Arthur C. Chipp will shortly forward information on the matter of volunteer firemen in the civil defense set-up. This matter is now under study and a report will shortly be forthcoming.

Edward Murray, county director in charge of welfare and shelter, for feeding, clothing and housing, financing and statistical reporting of all persons coming into the four main reception centers of Saugerties, Ellenville, Kingston and New Paltz, discussed the plans for his department.

County director of communications and transportation H. Edgar Timmerman of West Shokan, also spoke on problems of his department. Major Timmerman is endeavoring to list all licensed amateur radio operators or "hams" in Ulster county so they will be available in the event of an emergency.

Seeks Volunteers

Roland Green, assistant county superintendent of highways, who is deputy director of public utilities and public works in the civil defense setup, is arranging to obtain volunteers to take the state rescue course at the Albany Rescue Center. Green also urges that all town directors endeavor to have at least two operators for each piece of equipment assigned to defense work.

Dr. Robert Broad, deputy director in charge of medical services, announced that he would be glad to meet with town directors and their key personnel to discuss any phase of the medical set-up and he also has films to assist them in any training courses.

Plans are also being made to further coordinate defense communications by combining the county communications center with the communications center in Kingston, located at the city hall.

Col. Hanstein announced that the county will make available appropriate defense films to any town or will furnish speakers for any defense occasion.

Batten, Palen Appointed

It also was announced at the meeting that John Batten of Highland is now town director of the town of Lloyd and James Palen of Modena is town director of the town of Plattekill.

New identification cards for air post observers were distributed at the meeting.

A bulletin containing a summary of the activities of the meeting has been sent to all county and town directors so that they may be conversant with the program now effective throughout county.

Good Taste Today

by Emily Post

(Author of 'Etiquette,' 'Children Are People,' etc.)

MOTHERS ARE USUALLY RIGHT

A young girl writes me: "A man whom I have been dating quite often this past year sent me a watch on my birthday. My mother thinks it would be in very bad taste for me to accept it and insists that I return it. I'm afraid if I do this it will hurt his feelings and perhaps be the end of our friendship. Would it be a breach of etiquette to keep the watch, and if so, how can I return it without hurting his feelings?"

A girl is not supposed to accept valuable presents from a man unless she is engaged to him. If you explained that you are broken-hearted not to be able to keep it, but that your mother will not permit you to do so, he couldn't do other than hold you in respect for your unwillingness to do something of which your mother disapproves.

If Dish Was Unusual

Dear Mrs. Post: At dinner the other evening, I encountered a very strange custom. At least it was strange to me and I wonder if you have ever heard of it? When ordering a dish that is different from what the others at table are having, is it proper to ask them if they would like to taste it? The people I was dining with seemed to think that this was a very important part of correct table manners. What is your opinion of this custom?

Answer: I have never heard of this custom before, and handing out little portions of the dish that you alone have ordered would be unthinkable. If it was a very unusual dish and some one person upon seeing it showed great curiosity about it, it might be a natural impulse to proffer him (or her) a taste.

A Dentist's Visiting Cards

Dear Mrs. Post: How should the professional cards of a dentist be engraved, and how the personal cards that include his wife?

Answer: Professional cards would be John Henry Smith followed by the letters of his degree, and his personal cards Dr. and Mrs. John Henry Smith.

When walking on the street, should the gentleman cling to the curb side? This is one of the many questions on manners in public answered by Mrs. Post in leaflet E-15. Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to her, c/o this paper, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

Would Elect Jointly

Albany, N. Y., March 4 (AP)—A proposal that the governor and lieutenant governor be elected jointly, instead of by separate votes, was before the Legislature today. The proposed constitutional amendment was introduced last night through the Assembly Rules Committee. It also would authorize the governor to appoint a state comptroller or attorney general if a vacancy occurred during a regular term. The interim appointment would require Senate confirmation. A proposed amendment must be approved by two Legislatures and the voters before becoming effective.

Overnight Parking

Albany, N. Y., March 4 (AP)—A bill to allow municipalities to levy fees for overnight parking on certain streets today awaited Assembly action. The bill, approved by the Senate last night, is designed to relieve the "serious shortage of off-street facilities." Civilian Defense

Milton Man Named Air OP Coordinator

At a recent meeting of the county and town civil defense directors held at the Court house, Col. Allan L. Hanstein, county director, announced the appointment of Lt. Col. James R. Clarke of Milton to the post of Air Observation Post Coordinator of Ulster county. He will be attached to the staff of Deputy County Director Cluett Schantz.

Col. Clarke, United States Air Corps, retired, was on active duty with the 2nd Air Division of the 8th Air Force in England from 1942 to 1945. He will have under his command the supervisors and key personnel of each of the observation posts in the county.

At the meeting the matter bringing the civil defense workers under insurance coverage was discussed and each town director was asked to complete a questionnaire showing the various classifications of defense volunteers in their town. These workers will be enrolled by their town director and a report made to the county director. Under the plan volunteer workers will be brought insurance and given complete coverage. This will include auxiliary police, public employes in defense activities, rescue workers, etc.

Matter Under Study

Sheriff Schantz and Fire Coordinator Arthur C. Chipp will shortly forward information on the matter of volunteer firemen in the civil defense set-up. This matter is now under study and a report will shortly be forthcoming.

Edward Murray, county director in charge of welfare and shelter, for feeding, clothing and housing, financing and statistical reporting of all persons coming into the four main reception centers of Saugerties, Ellenville, Kingston and New Paltz, discussed the plans for his department.

County director of communications and transportation H. Edgar Timmerman of West Shokan, also spoke on problems of his department. Major Timmerman is endeavoring to list all licensed amateur radio operators or "hams" in Ulster county so they will be available in the event of an emergency.

Seeks Volunteers

Roland Green, assistant county superintendent of highways, who is deputy director of public utilities and public works in the civil defense setup, is arranging to obtain volunteers to take the state rescue course at the Albany Rescue Center. Green also urges that all town directors endeavor to have at least two operators for each piece of equipment assigned to defense work.

Dr. Robert Broad, deputy director in charge of medical services, announced that he would be glad to meet with town directors and their key personnel to discuss any phase of the medical set-up and he also has films to assist them in any training courses.

Plans are also being made to further coordinate defense communications by combining the county communications center with the communications center in Kingston, located at the city hall.

Col. Hanstein announced that the county will make available appropriate defense films to any town or will furnish speakers for any defense occasion.

Batten, Palen Appointed

It also was announced at the meeting that John Batten of Highland is now town director of the town of Lloyd and James Palen of Modena is town director of the town of Plattekill.

New identification cards for air post observers were distributed at the meeting.

A bulletin containing a summary of the activities of the meeting has been sent to all county and town directors so that they may be conversant with the program now effective throughout county.

St. Mary's and St. Joseph's Win Upstate CYO Basketball Titles

Play in Archdiocesan Finals in New York

Ulster county CYO basketball teams flashed rugged defenses to win two upstate New York CYO titles Saturday in Poughkeepsie and will compete in the Archdiocesan finals on Sunday, March 9, at Cardinal Hayes High School in New York.

St. Joseph's 100-pound squad shut out St. Patrick's in two periods and trounced them 42-7.

St. Mary's 85-pounders thumped St. Patrick's of Newburgh, 36-11, restricting the Hill City cagers to a maxmum of four points in any period.

Most Precious Blood of Walden captured the 120-pound title with a decisive 32-14 conquest of the Immaculate Conception squad of Kingston.

Peter Esposito paced the St. Mary's triumph with 14 points. Nick Kearney flipped 7 points, Joe Reynolds five and Charlie DeCicco hit with six.

Kingston High Plays Amsterdam Friday

Kingston High School will meet Amsterdam High, third place team in the capital district conference Friday night in the opening game of the intersectional tournament at the municipal auditorium.

Newburgh Free Academy, undefeated three-time DUSO League champions, are scheduled to face Nott Terrace of Schenectady on Saturday.

A preliminary between the KHS Jayvee Seconds and the MJM All Stars is scheduled Friday.

Meanwhile, Middletown High, last of the Class A powers of the DUSO League, has the unenviable assignment of tangling with Albany High, co-champions of the district, Saturday night at Convention Hall in Saratoga Springs.

In announcing the pairings, Coach G. Warren Kias pointed out that although Mont Pleasant and Albany High finished in a tie for first place in their district, the Red Raiders were awarded first place in the seeding by draw.

Albany and Mont Pleasant split in two meetings this season, the only defeat charged against either squad. The Albanians added further lustre to their record by becoming only the fourth team to beat Mont Pleasant on the Schenectady boards in the last 25 years.

Saddler Tactics Stir Big Rhubarb In Montreal Ring

Montreal, March 4 (AP) — Featherweight champion Sandy Saddler today found himself in a controversy for the second time in less than six months.

The lithe New York Negro was disqualified between the third and fourth rounds here last night because of his illegal actions in a scheduled 10-round bout against Armand Savoie.

The disqualification produced a first class rhubarb. Fans milled about the ringside, and when several fights broke out among them, three carloads of police were hurried to the forum to stop the brawling.

Canadian Athletic Commission officials went into semi-official huddles and planned a full dress meeting today.

Saddler was suspended by New York State Athletic Commission chairman Robert Christenberry last Oct. 5 as an aftermath of his roughhouse bout with Willie Pep. He was not reinstated to good standing until Dec. 5. Pep's license was revoked in New York as a result of the brawl.

Saddler's handlers were wrathful at last night's decision.

Bert Briscoe, Saddler's trainer, said, "We'll ruin Montreal as a fight town. We'll warn American fighters to stay away from here or they'll get the business."

Referee Tommy Sullivan stopped the fight on orders from Emile Gauthier, president of the Montreal Athletic Commission, who climbed into the ring before the start of the fourth round.

The referee disqualified Saddler for "fouling continually—holding, beeling, hitting on the breaks and sending in low blows."

Saddler weighed 130½ and Savoie 134.

Elstons and Rams Beat Lincoln Center On Home Boards

Elston's Sport came storming down the stretch with a 31-point fourth period to upset the powerful Lincoln Center Varsity, 70-61, on the Bridge City boards.

In the prelim, the Rams of Kingston overpowered the Lincoln Center Jayvees, 71-31.

Dan Schrader's one-hand jump shots sparked the Elston comeback that enabled the locals to ride to victory after trailing 51-39 at the end of three periods. The Lincoln cagers racked up 29 points in the third quarter.

Schrader led both squads with 26 points on a dozen fields and two singletons. Bones Hampton dunked 19 points and played a superb floor game despite an ankle injury early in the game. Ward Dunham contributed 11 points. Maroney's 17 topped the losers.

Rams Win Easily

Jack Schrader and Dick Bezemer teamed up to turn the prelim contest into a rout, with 22 and 20 points respectively. The Rams led 14-7 at the quarter and then piled up 30 points to hold a 44-22 edge at the intermission.

Siena to Battle Bonnies Thursday

Still hoping for an NIT invitation, Siena College of Loudonville winds up its regular season against two of the nation's top ranking quintets, St. Bonaventure Thursday and Canisius Saturday at the Albany Armory.

Siena's hopes for a NIT bid were squelched by Villanova last week but a sweep of the Bonnie and Canisius contests would put Coach Danny Cunha's cagers in line for a bid.

St. Bonaventure (19-3) and one of four seeded NIT clubs hung a 69-44 on the Loudonville lads two weeks ago at Olean.

Canisius has been moving at an accelerated pace since losing to Siena, 56-45, in mid-season at Buffalo. It holds a 4-2 series advantage over the Indians.

Tigers Try Wertz At First Base Post

Lakeland, Fla., March 4 (AP)—Vic Wertz, home run blasting outfielder for the Detroit Tigers, had his initial try at first base yesterday in what has been billed as Manager Red Rolfe's "great experiment."

Afterwards Wertz, who has never played the position before, had one observation:

"At least I won't have to chase those ground balls—the ones they hit through me in the outfield—all over the park."

Wertz' fielding appeared adequate in his first trial although he admitted he has to learn a lot of infield tricks to succeed in Rolfe's attempt to get a slugging first baseman.

Kentucky Wins National Crown

New York, March 4 (AP)—The Kentucky Wildcats can add another honor to their bulging collection today.

Coach Adolph Rupp's beauties from the Blue Grass country have been named the top college basketball team in the nation for the third time in four years in the final Associated Press poll.

The Wildcats' latest laurel came hard on the heels of their ninth straight Southeastern Conference championship and a 44-43 victory over Louisiana State in the conference tournament that boosted their winning streak to 22 games. Kentucky is after one more trophy, the NCAA championship.

The Wildcats previously finished at the head of the class in the AP poll in 1949 and 1951. Bradley interrupted the streak by winning in 1950.

The 121 sports writers and sportscasters who participated in the final poll awarded Kentucky 39 first-place votes and 1,033 points.

Illinois came in second with 750 points. Kansas State followed with 672.

St. Mary's and St. Joseph's Win Upstate CYO Basketball Titles

Play in Archdiocesan Finals in New York

Ulster county CYO basketball teams flashed rugged defenses to win two upstate New York CYO titles Saturday in Poughkeepsie and will compete in the Archdiocesan finals on Sunday, March 9, at Cardinal Hayes High School in New York.

St. Joseph's 100-pound squad shut out St. Patrick's in two periods and trounced them 42-7.

St. Mary's 85-pounders thumped St. Patrick's of Newburgh, 36-11, restricting the Hill City cagers to a maxmum of four points in any period.

Most Precious Blood of Walden captured the 120-pound title with a decisive 32-14 conquest of the Immaculate Conception squad of Kingston.

Esposito Hits 14

Peter Esposito paced the St. Mary's triumph with 14 points. Nick Kearney flipped 7 points, Joe Reynolds five and Charlie DeCicco hit with six.

The Ashdown brothers—Ronnie and Donnie—and Fibber Davitt, three Little League baseball stars, were the big guns in the St. Joseph's win. Ronnie rimmed 12 points, Donnie 10 and Fibber 8.

Kingston High Plays Amsterdam Friday

Kingston High School will meet Amsterdam High, third place team in the capital district conference Friday night in the opening game of the intersectional tournament at the municipal auditorium.

Newburgh Free Academy, undefeated three-time DUSO League champions, are scheduled to face Nott Terrace of Schenectady on Saturday.

A preliminary between the KHS Jayvee Seconds and the MJM All Stars is scheduled Friday.

Meanwhile, Middletown High, last of the Class A powers of the DUSO League, has the unenviable assignment of tangling with Albany High, co-champions of the district, Saturday night at Convention Hall in Saratoga Springs.

In announcing the pairings, Coach G. Warren Kias pointed out that although Mont Pleasant and Albany High finished in a tie for first place in their district, the Red Raiders were awarded first place in the seeding by draw.

Albany and Mont Pleasant split in two meetings this season, the only defeat charged against either squad. The Albanians added further lustre to their record by becoming only the fourth team to beat Mont Pleasant on the Schenectady boards in the last 25 years.

Trinity Loses At Saugerties

Trinity Lutheran cagers couldn't stop Big Sal Misasi last night and returned home from Saugerties nursing the wounds of a 62-46 trouncing in basketball.

Misasi, who is a standout member of the Saugerties High School varsity and a City League pitcher in the summer, holed 15 deuces and two singletons for 32 points.

Trinity kept Misasi under blankets in the first quarter which they dominated 13-6 but the big boy started finding the range and paced the Whiz Kids to quarter clockings of 20-16-20.

Richie Gollnick rimmed 18 points to pace the losers.

Saddler Tactics Stir Big Rhubarb In Montreal Ring

Montreal, March 4 (AP) — Featherweight champion Sandy Saddler today found himself in a controversy for the second time in less than six months.

The lithe New York Negro was disqualified between the third and fourth rounds here last night because of his illegal actions in a scheduled 10-round bout against Armand Savoie.

The disqualification produced a first class rhubarb. Fans milled about the ringside, and when several fights broke out among them, three carloads of police were hurried to the forum to stop the brawling.

Canadian Athletic Commission officials went into semi-official huddles and planned a full dress meeting today.

Saddler was suspended by New York State Athletic Commission chairman Robert Christenberry last Oct. 5 as an aftermath of his roughhouse bout with Willie Pep. He was not reinstated to good standing until Dec. 5. Pep's license was revoked in New York as a result of the brawl.

Saddler's handlers were wrathful at last night's decision.

Bert Briscoe, Saddler's trainer, said, "We'll ruin Montreal as a fight town. We'll warn American fighters to stay away from here or they'll get the business."

Referee Tommy Sullivan stopped the fight on orders from Emile Gauthier, president of the Montreal Athletic Commission, who climbed into the ring before the start of the fourth round.

The referee disqualified Saddler for "fouling continually—holding, beeling, hitting on the breaks and sending in low blows."

Saddler weighed 130½ and Savoie 134.

Elstons and Rams Beat Lincoln Center On Home Boards

Elston's Sport came storming down the stretch with a 31-point fourth period to upset the powerful Lincoln Center Varsity, 70-61, on the Bridge City boards.

In the prelim, the Rams of Kingston overpowered the Lincoln Center Jayvees, 71-31.

Dan Schrader's one-hand jump shots sparked the Elston comeback that enabled the locals to ride to victory after trailing 51-39 at the end of three periods. The Lincoln cagers racked up 29 points in the third quarter.

Schrader led both squads with 26 points on a dozen fields and two singletons. Bones Hampton dunked 19 points and played a superb floor game despite an ankle injury early in the game. Ward Dunham contributed 11 points. Maroney's 17 topped the losers.

Rams Win Easily

Jack Schrader and Dick Bezemer teamed up to turn the prelim contest into a rout, with 22 and 20 points respectively. The Rams led 14-7 at the quarter and then piled up 30 points to hold a 44-22 edge at the intermission.

Siena to Battle Bonnies Thursday

Still hoping for an NIT invitation, Siena College of Loudonville winds up its regular season against two of the nation's top ranking quintets, St. Bonaventure Thursday and Canisius Saturday at the Albany Armory.

Siena's hopes for a NIT bid were squelched by Villanova last week but a sweep of the Bonnie and Canisius contests would put Coach Danny Cunha's cagers in line for a bid.

St. Bonaventure (19-3) and one of four seeded NIT clubs hung a 69-44 on the Loudonville lads two weeks ago at Olean.

Canisius has been moving at an accelerated pace since losing to Siena, 56-45, in mid-season at Buffalo. It holds a 4-2 series advantage over the Indians.

Tigers Try Wertz At First Base Post

Lakeland, Fla., March 4 (AP)—Vic Wertz, home run blasting outfielder for the Detroit Tigers, had his initial try at first base yesterday in what has been billed as Manager Red Rolfe's "great experiment."

Afterwards Wertz, who has never played the position before, had one observation:

"At least I won't have to chase those ground balls—the ones they hit through me in the outfield—all over the park."

Wertz' fielding appeared adequate in his first trial although he admitted he has to learn a lot of infield tricks to succeed in Rolfe's attempt to get a slugging first baseman.

Kentucky Wins National Crown

New York, March 4 (AP)—The Kentucky Wildcats can add another honor to their bulging collection today.

Coach Adolph Rupp's beauties from the Blue Grass country have been named the top college basketball team in the nation for the third time in four years in the final Associated Press poll.

The Wildcats' latest laurel came hard on the heels of their ninth straight Southeastern Conference championship and a 44-43 victory over Louisiana State in the conference tournament that boosted their winning streak to 22 games. Kentucky is after one more trophy, the NCAA championship.

The Wildcats previously finished at the head of the class in the AP poll in 1949 and 1951. Bradley interrupted the streak by winning in 1950.

The 121 sports writers and sportscasters who participated in the final poll awarded Kentucky 39 first-place votes and 1,033 points.

Illinois came in second with 750 points. Kansas State followed with 672.

Troy, N. Y., March 4 (AP)—Three teams, including the 1950 and 1951 champions, have entered the National Catholic Invitation basketball tournament opening here March 15.

Director Tommy Thomas announced last night that St. Francis of Brooklyn, the defending champion; Siena, the 1950 winner, and St. Joseph's of Philadelphia had accepted bids to the 12-team tourney.

The games will be played at the Rensselaer Poly Field House.

Siena, with a 20-6 record, closes its regular season this week with two home games—against St. Bonaventure Thursday and Canisius Saturday. St. Francis (18-6) completes its schedule tomorrow against Connecticut at Brooklyn.

Training Camp News in Brief

(By The Associated Press)

Phoenix, Ariz., March 4 (AP)—Manager Leo Durocher of the New York Giants hinted today that catcher Ray Noble may be traded.

Noble checked into camp yesterday and Durocher remarked that the hefty Cuban receiver would make a good catcher for several clubs, especially Pittsburgh and Boston.

The Giants have three catchers—Wes Westrum, Sal Yvars and Ray Katt, in addition to Noble, and probably would be willing to trade him for a left-handed pinch-hitter.

Dodger Casualties

Vero Beach, Fla., March 4 (AP)—Injuries are hampering the Brooklyn Dodgers' conditioning program.

Catcher Roy Campanella, the National League's most valuable player in 1951, is sidelined indefinitely with a sore thigh which hampered his play last year. Second baseman Jackie Robinson has a sore shoulder and pitcher Ralph Branca is suffering from asthma.

Yankee Rookies

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 4 (AP)—Rookies Andy Carey and Jim Brideweser, and Billy Martin figure prominently in New York Yankee manager Casey Stengel's plans.

Carey will be given a full crack at third base. If he wins it, Gil McDougald will shift to second. If Carey fails, Martin and Brideweser will battle it out for second base with McDougald returning to third.

Tribe Wants Outfielder

Tucson, Arz., March 4 (AP)—Cleveland general manager Hank Greenberg, still casting around for a good outfielder, just about gave up today on the idea of getting an Indian uniform on Detroit's Hoot Evers.

'Evers has been looking awfully good," Red Ruffing, who has been scouting around the Florida camps for Hank, reported from Lakeland, Fla. The gimmick: The Tigers have decided to keep him.

Anyhow, second baseman Roberto Avila finally got here from Mexico, with his pretty bride. He signed his contract right away, for an estimated $20,000, almost double last year's figure.

New Redleg Find

Tampa, Fla., March 4 (AP)—There's a wing-ding race shaping up for the second-base job with Cincinnati, and Manager Luke Sewell isn't counting young Johnny Temple out of it by any means.

Grady Hatton, erstwhile third-baseman, has first pick at the job vacated when Connie Ryan was traded, but Temple, Eddie Pellagrini or shortstop Roy McMillan may get it if Hatton fails to prove he can make the switch.

Temple, an eager 21-year-old from North Carolina, has the air of a ballplayer, although he has had only four years of professional experience. He batted .294 for Tulsa last year and was rated a better than average fielder.

San Francisco — Bob Dunlap, 182½, Oakland, Calif., outpointed Cesar Brion, 198, Buenos Aires, Argentina (10).

Where Biggest Bass Come From

By AL McCLANE
Fishing Editor

Where do the biggest black bass come from?

Florida, Georgia, Alabama, and lately Tennessee.

This is based on the results of the Field and Stream National Fishing Contest, which is a very precise barometer in the stormy career of America's Number One fresh water gamefish.

Out of 171 prize winners taken in the past four years, more than 60 per cent were racked up in the deep south. What's the best bait? Plugs by a wide margin. No less than 110 were taken on the artificial minnow; live bait ran a remote second with 31 bass, while the spoon accounted for 20. Fly-rod fans scored a low 10 with assorted popping bugs, flies and spinners.

..It might be argued that more people cast plugs than any other type of bait designed for bass. Spoons didn't make a good showing because they never have been too popular in the south. A few specialists drape them with pork-rind and pitch them up cypress tunnels, but the average cracker works with a two-handed bait casting rod and a wooden minnow.

Fly rod talent is scarce throughout the nation, so it's no surprise to find fly-casters at the bottom of this league. But live bait fishing is just as popular as bait casting, and the final score blows a great big hole in the live bait myth.

The fact that barrel-sized bass are turned out of southern ponds with fair regularity is no surprise. There seems to be two main reasons why the growth is faster below the Mason-Dixon line.

First, they are in the South. Within normal limits fish grow faster in warmer water. Secondly, the growing season is much longer in the South than in the North.

In most northern states, bass must make all of their growth in three or four months when the water is over 60 to 70 degrees, while in the South bass can fatten for six to nine months.

A third reason, which will show up with more and more prize winners coming from Tennessee, is that her reservoir lakes are new lakes, where there is comparatively little competition. Fish in new lakes usually show phenomenal growth.

We predicted last year that Dale Hollow Reservoir in Tennessee was going to produce the largest smallmouth bass in the nation for the next three years—and probably a world's record. This year, Dale dominated the smallmouth division with seven out of 10 prize winners.

Two dark horses are coming up in the next few years, however, Wolf Creek Reservoir in Kentucky, and the Center Hill Reservoir in Tennessee. Wolf will have the largest volume of water east of the Mississippi River, with 1255 miles of shoreline in easy distance for anglers in Tennessee, Kentucky, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois.

Add both of these to your fishing program for 1953, because that's the year these two bass ponds are going to turn out a crop of lunkers.

A FISH RULE ROD

HERE IS A VERY SIMPLE FISH RULE! MEASURE OFF THE LEGAL SIZES OF THE FISH YOU FISH FOR AND WRAP NARROW STRIPS OF WHITE ADHESIVE TAPE AT THE DESIRED LENGTHS, STARTING FROM NEAR THE ROD BUTT AND WORKING TOWARD THE TIP. THE NARROW STRIPS WON'T IMPAIR THE ROD'S ACTION AND WILL NOT DAMAGE IT. WITH TAPE YOU CAN ALWAYS CHANGE THE SIZE IF LIMITS ARE ALTERED IN THE FUTURE! THIS RULE IS ALWAYS HANDY!

BE SURE IT'S LEGAL!

Red Wings Near Fourth Pennant

(By The Associated Press)

The Detroit Red Wings are on the threshold today of matching a rare National Hockey League feat—four straight pennants.

Coach Tommy Ivan's well-balanced squad needs only one more victory in its remaining nine games to seal up its fourth consecutive flag.

The Wings advanced a step closer toward their goal last night by coming from behind to beat the Chicago Blackhawks, 3-2.

The victory boosted the hard-skating Wings 17 points ahead of the second-place Montreal Canadiens. The Canadiens have nine games left to play and by winning them all they would finish with 88 points. The Wings have 87 points.

Only two other teams in history of the league, which dates back to 1917-18, have won four straight pennants.

The Boston Bruins were the first to perform the feat. They won four straight beginning with the 1937-38 season. The Canadiens duplicated the feat from 1943-44 to 1946-47.

Trade Expansion Planned

Taipeh, Formosa (AP) — Plans to expand trade between Formosa and Malaya have been mapped by Nationalist authorities. Talks will be held here or in Hong Kong shortly with businessmen from Singapore. Formosa could export sugar, cement, tea, paper and aluminum sheets to Malaya and import tin, coconut oil and rubber. Meanwhile talks already were in progress between Nationalist and Japanese interests on joint development of Formosa's fishing industry.

Top Quintets Accept Bid to Catholic Meet

Troy, N. Y., March 4 (AP)—Three teams, including the 1950 and 1951 champions, have entered the National Catholic Invitation basketball tournament opening here March 15.

Director Tommy Thomas announced last night that St. Francis of Brooklyn, the defending champion; Siena, the 1950 winner, and St. Joseph's of Philadelphia had accepted bids to the 12-team tourney.

The games will be played at the Rensselaer Poly Field House.

Siena, with a 20-6 record, closes its regular season this week with two home games—against St. Bonaventure Thursday and Canisius Saturday. St. Francis (18-6) completes its schedule tomorrow against Connecticut at Brooklyn.

Y Volleyball Squad Defeats Newburgh

The scores were 15-10, 10-15, 15-7, 16-14, 15-9 and 11-15. It was the second win of the season for Kingston on its home court. The teams broke even in Newburgh last week. A fourth pairing has been scheduled for Newburgh on March 27.

Members of the Kingston squad included James Volker, Chester Dolson, Edmund Coughlin, Warren Smith, Edward Minasian, Lou Schafer, Tony Castiglione, Robert Backus and Robert Crowell.

Training Camp News in Brief

(By The Associated Press)

Phoenix, Ariz., March 4 (AP)—Manager Leo Durocher of the New York Giants hinted today that catcher Ray Noble may be traded.

Noble checked into camp yesterday and Durocher remarked that the hefty Cuban receiver would make a good catcher for several clubs, especially Pittsburgh and Boston.

The Giants have three catchers—Wes Westrum, Sal Yvars and Ray Katt, in addition to Noble, and probably would be willing to trade him for a left-handed pinch-hitter.

Dodger Casualties

Vero Beach, Fla., March 4 (AP)—Injuries are hampering the Brooklyn Dodgers' conditioning program.

Catcher Roy Campanella, the National League's most valuable player in 1951, is sidelined indefinitely with a sore thigh which hampered his play last year. Second baseman Jackie Robinson has a sore shoulder and pitcher Ralph Branca is suffering from asthma.

Yankee Rookies

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 4 (AP)—Rookies Andy Carey and Jim Brideweser, and Billy Martin figure prominently in New York Yankee manager Casey Stengel's plans.

Carey will be given a full crack at third base. If he wins it, Gil McDougald will shift to second. If Carey fails, Martin and Brideweser will battle it out for second base with McDougald returning to third.

Tribe Wants Outfielder

Tucson, Ariz., March 4 (AP)—Cleveland general manager Hank Greenberg, still casting around for a good outfielder, just about gave up today on the idea of getting an Indian uniform on Detroit's Hoot Evers.

'Evers has been looking awfully good," Red Ruffing, who has been scouting around the Florida camps for Hank, reported from Lakeland, Fla. The gimmick: The Tigers have decided to keep him.

Anyhow, second baseman Roberto Avila finally got here from Mexico, with his pretty bride. He signed his contract right away, for an estimated $20,000, almost double last year's figure.

New Redleg Find

Tampa, Fla., March 4 (AP)—There's a wing-ding race shaping up for the second-base job with Cincinnati, and Manager Luke Sewell isn't counting young Johnny Temple out of it by any means.

Grady Hatton, erstwhile third-baseman, has first pick at the job vacated when Connie Ryan was traded, but Temple, Eddie Pellagrini or shortstop Roy McMillan may get it if Hatton fails to prove he can make the switch.

Temple, an eager 21-year-old from North Carolina, has the air of a ballplayer, although he has had only four years of professional experience. He batted .294 for Tulsa last year and was rated a better than average fielder.

San Francisco — Bob Dunlap, 182½, Oakland, Calif., outpointed Cesar Brion, 198, Buenos Aires, Argentina (10).

Where Biggest Bass Come From

By AL McCLANE
Fishing Editor

Where do the biggest black bass come from?

Florida, Georgia, Alabama, and lately Tennessee.

This is based on the results of the Field and Stream National Fishing Contest, which is a very precise barometer in the stormy career of America's Number One fresh water gamefish.

Out of 171 prize winners taken in the past four years, more than 60 per cent were racked up in the deep south. What's the best bait? Plugs by a wide margin. No less than 110 were taken on the artificial minnow; live bait ran a remote second with 31 bass, while the spoon accounted for 20. Fly-rod fans scored a low 10 with assorted popping bugs, flies and spinners.

..It might be argued that more people cast plugs than any other type of bait designed for bass. Spoons didn't make a good showing because they never have been too popular in the south. A few specialists drape them with pork-rind and pitch them up cypress tunnels, but the average cracker works with a two-handed bait casting rod and a wooden minnow.

Fly rod talent is scarce throughout the nation, so it's no surprise to find fly-casters at the bottom of this league. But live bait fishing is just as popular as bait casting, and the final score blows a great big hole in the live bait myth.

The fact that barrel-sized bass are turned out of southern ponds with fair regularity is no surprise. There seems to be two main reasons why the growth is faster below the Mason-Dixon line.

First, they are in the South. Within normal limits fish grow faster in warmer water. Secondly, the growing season is much longer in the South than in the North.

In most northern states, bass must make all of their growth in three or four months when the water is over 60 to 70 degrees, while in the South bass can fatten for six to nine months.

A third reason, which will show up with more and more prize winners coming from Tennessee, is that her reservoir lakes are new lakes, where there is comparatively little competition. Fish in new lakes usually show phenomenal growth.

We predicted last year that Dale Hollow Reservoir in Tennessee was going to produce the largest smallmouth bass in the nation for the next three years—and probably a world's record. This year, Dale dominated the smallmouth division with seven out of 10 prize winners.

Two dark horses are coming up in the next few years, however. Wolf Creek Reservoir in Kentucky, and the Center Hill Reservoir in Tennessee. Wolf will have the largest volume of water east of the Mississippi River, with 1255 miles of shoreline in easy distance for anglers in Tennessee, Kentucky, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois.

Add both of these to your fishing program for 1953, because that's the year these two bass ponds are going to turn out a crop of lunkers.

Brion Upset

San Francisco, March 4 (AP)—Bob Dunlap, an obscure Negro, may have projected himself into the national heavyweight fight picture with a surprising and convincing victory over Cesar Brion last night. Dunlap, 182½, from Oakland, Calif., who never seems to stop throwing leather, twice felled 198 pound Brion, who twice stayed 10 rounds with Joe Louis. Dunlap was a 3-1 underdog.

Red Wings Near Fourth Pennant

(By The Associated Press)

The Detroit Red Wings are on the threshold today of matching a rare National Hockey League feat—four straight pennants.

Coach Tommy Ivan's well-balanced squad needs only one more victory in its remaining nine games to seal up its fourth consecutive flag.

The Wings advanced a step closer toward their goal last night by coming from behind to beat the Chicago Blackhawks, 3-2.

The victory boosted the hard-skating Wings 17 points ahead of the second-place Montreal Canadiens. The Canadiens have nine games left to play and by winning them all they would finish with 88 points. The Wings have 87 points.

Only two other teams in history of the league, which dates back to 1917-18, have won four straight pennants.

The Boston Bruins were the first to perform the feat. They won four straight beginning with the 1937-38 season. The Canadiens duplicated the feat from 1943-44 to 1946-47.

Trade Expansion Planned

Taipeh, Formosa (AP) — Plans to expand trade between Formosa and Malaya have been mapped by Nationalist authorities. Talks will be held here or in Hong Kong shortly with businessmen from Singapore. Formosa could export sugar, cement, tea, paper and aluminum sheets to Malaya and import tin, coconut oil and rubber. Meanwhile talks already were in progress between Nationalist and Japanese interests on joint development of Formosa's fishing industry.

Car Smashes Ferry Gates, Two Drown at Weehawken

LITTLE LIZ

The marriage won't last if the bride says "I do" while still looking around to see if she could do better. ©NEA

Weehawken, N. J., March 4 (AP)—A car carrying two persons, believed to be mother and son, smashed through the closed gate of a ferry docked here and plunged into the Hudson river today. The woman's body was recovered.

Police tentatively identified the woman as Mrs. Susan Hamilton, about 60, of 191 Rogers avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y., and the missing man as her 36-year-old son Donald, whose home is at 4526 Park avenue, Weehawken.

A search still is underway for the body of the man who police said was driving the woman to her Brooklyn home.

Neither of the victims were in the car when it was brought to the surface by a salvage tug. Two such tugs rushed to the scene shortly after the accident and a diver succeeded in hooking a line to the submerged vehicle.

Several eyewitnesses aboard the ferry at the West Shore railroad terminal here said the car failed to stop when it approached the gate and crashed through. It drifted almost 100 feet before sinking, they added. The mishap occurred at 12:25 a. m.

The ferry, the Utica, was due to leave for New York city. Police said the car bore New Jersey plates.

Attempts to recover the submerged vehicle and its unidentified occupants continued throughout the night.

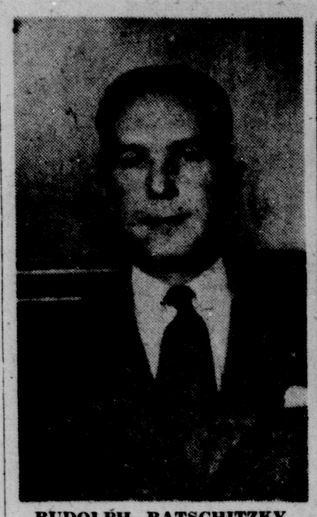
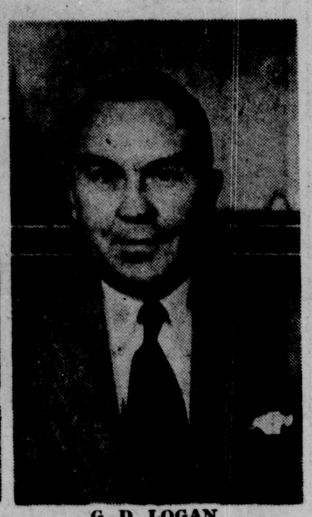
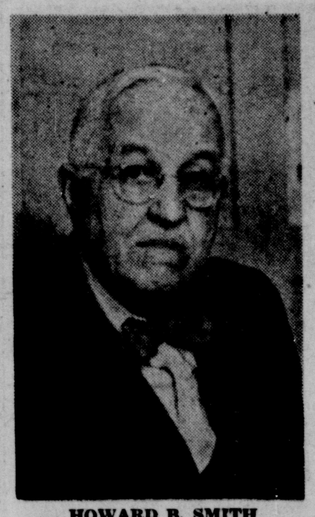
Five Promotions Announced at Electrol



RUDOLPH RATSCHITZKY



G. D. LOGAN



HOWARD B. SMITH

Fletcher Named Ashton Assistant; 4 Vice Presidents

An assistant to the president and four vice presidents have been appointed by B. N. Ashton, president of Electrol, Incorporated, the firm announced today.

The hydraulics industry at 85 Grand street employs 750 people with over 90 per cent coming from the city of Kingston, and has a payroll of more than two million dollars a year.

Victor E. Fletcher, present assistant secretary of the corporation, has been named to the post of assistant to the president. Fletcher began his association with Electrol on April 27, 1942, in the factory management department, later transferring to time study. For five years he was chief estimator and confidential secretary to Mr. Ashton, and in August, 1951, was made assistant secretary of the corporation.

New Vice Presidents

The vice presidents appointed were Edmund D. Holland, George D. Logan, Rudolph Ratschitzky and Howard B. Smith.

Holland joined the Electrol staff on December 16, 1940, as engineering checker. He worked in that capacity for the U. S. Navy from August, 1942, to May, 1946, when he became project engineer. In November, 1950, he became assistant to the factory manager, and on May 1, 1951, he was named manager of engineering and development.

G. D. Logan came to Electrol on July 23, 1941, as night factory superintendent. He later was promoted to production control manager and has been factory manager since November 1, 1944.

Came From England

R. Ratschitzky, present secretary-treasurer of the corporation, came to Electrol in December, 1945, from the Union Fork and Hoe Company, Columbus, Ohio. He came to this country from England in 1944.

H. B. Smith, previously with Grumman, has been sales manager since coming with Electrol on April 15, 1946.

The largest industrial plant within the corporate limits of the city of Kingston, Electrol, Inc., manufactures hydraulic landing gears for supersonic rocket craft, helicopters, tri-phibious Grumman rescue ships and the new jet F-84 Thunderjets and F2H2 Banshee.

Two Million Payroll

The present plant, with its payroll of better than two million dollars a year, was originally used for the manufacture of Apollo Magneto electrical equipment and later the Electrol Oil Burner. About ten years ago the manufacture of hydraulic equipment was begun. Today, approximately 50 per cent of plant income is derived from the manufacture of landing gears and the other 50 per cent from other hydraulic equipment such as hand pumps, fourway selector valves, speed control valves. The rapid growth is an indication of the possibilities which will be synonymous with development of hydraulics in industry.

Any civic organization may visit the plant upon certification by the security officer. It has been Electrol's policy to greet all cordially and a qualified guide is always available for any groups interested in visiting the plant.

Town of Hurley Forms Taxpayers Association

Efforts are being made to form a taxpayers association in the town of Hurley, it was learned today.

A group of persons meeting Monday night at the Spillway Road Schoolhouse elected Philip Metzger of the Spillway road as temporary chairman and set March 10 as the date for a second meeting, at which permanent officers will be elected. The name, Town of Hurley Taxpayers Association, was selected to designate the organization.

A member of the group said today that 46 persons were enrolled as members at Monday night's meeting.

The group gave as reasons for organizing a felt need for "more adequate representation of outlying communities of the town of Hurley in town affairs," and the recent voting for new fire equipment and combination fire house and recreation center in West Hurley, which, they contended, has brought protests that "less haste and more attendant publicity would have been in order." A number of taxpayers claimed they did not know of the ballot in time to attend the voting.

Will Move Offices

Albany, N. Y., March 4 (AP)—The State Conservation Department will move its field offices for the eastern Adirondacks from Saranac Lake to Raybrook. J. Victor Skiff, deputy commissioner, said yesterday the department hoped to start building a $30,000 log structure this year. The new building will house offices of the district forester, game protector and fish and game managers.

De Gaulle Shadow

interfering too much in Europe but adds that "we can't do without American aid."

Though De Gaulle himself could not be in a cabinet—he is not a member of the National Assembly—there were persistent rumors that he is seeking a meeting with President Vincent Auriol, who nominates premiers.

These reports said De Gaulle wanted the meeting away from the publicity-surrounded presidential residence, the Elysee Palace. But Auriol reportedly was making no concessions to the general. The president, it was said, would have the meeting at the palace or not at all.

Actress Una Merkel's Plight Blamed on Pills

Santa Monica, Calif., March 4 (AP)—Actress Una Merkel is in St. John's Hospital suffering from what her doctor says was "probaby an overdose of sleeping pills."

"She is pretty sick," Dr. Roy T. McReynolds said last night, "but I think she will pull through."

Miss Merkel, 48-year-old veteran of stage and screen, was found in a coma yesterday by a nurse who had been attending her during a siege of influenza. Her condition was at first described as critical.

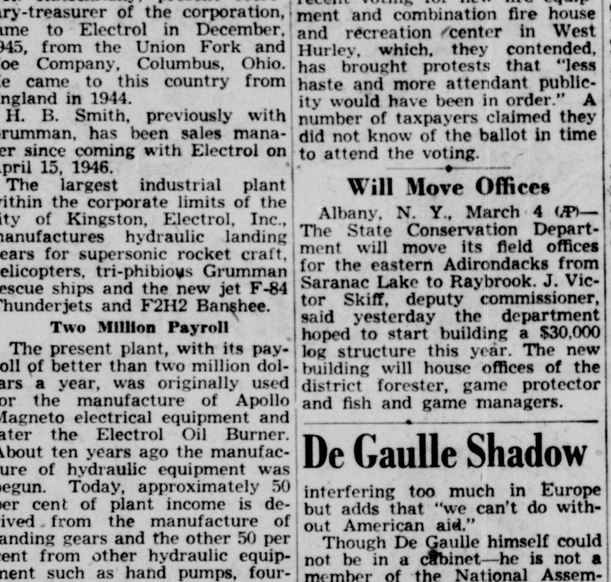
Dr. McReynolds, who had been treating her for influenza, said he had not prescribed sleeping pills but added that he found an empty seconal bottle in her apartment.

The actress narrowly escaped death in 1945 when she and her mother, Mrs. Arno Merkel, were overcome by gas fumes in a New York apartment. Mrs. Merkel was found dead and police listed it as suicide.

Hint to Motorists

The oil filter not only cleans the lubricant, but also helps to cool it, reducing consumption. For the sake of economy, therefore, it should be replaced when it becomes clogged.

Suspect Throttled



This exceptional picture was made by Ferdinand Kasprzak, commercial photographer, as the lone gunman who police said held up Sattler's deparment store in Buffalo was captured and disarmed outside store. Left to right are Sattler doorman John Burke, holding gun; John Barker, store detective; Phil Saturen, a buyer; Arthur S. Noworyta, the alleged thief, and Gail Zenner, an ex-Marine who captured him. Water Follies Are Booked by Firemen In Place of Ball

The Uniformed Firemen's Association of this city will sponsor the Sam Snyder Water Follies of 1952 for a three-day stand in July, in place of its annual St. Patrick's Day Ball, it was announced today by Howard Whitaker, president.

In announcing cancellation of the March 17 ball and stage show, President Whitaker said the association, Local 461 of the UFA, was unable at this time to secure a good name band and "felt it would be better to cancel our ball and not to disappoint our good friends."

At the same time, he announced the signing of the Sam Snyder Water Follies of 1952, billed as "The World's Largest Aquacade." The municipal stadium has been secured for July 3, 4 and 5 for afternoon and evening performances. The combined water-stage show features divers and swimmers using their own portable 80,000-gallon pool.

The show has been signed "in conjunction with the celebration of Kingston's 300th Anniversary, Whitaker said.

Car Smashes Ferry Gates, Two Drown at Weehawken

LITTLE LIZ

Weehawken, N. J., March 4 (AP)—A car carrying two persons, believed to be mother and son, smashed through the closed gate of a ferry docked here and plunged into the Hudson river today. The woman's body was recovered.

Police tentatively identified the woman as Mrs. Susan Hamilton, about 60, of 191 Rogers avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y., and the missing man as her 36-year-old son Donald, whose home is at 4526 Park avenue, Weehawken.

A search still is underway for the body of the man who police said was driving the woman to her Brooklyn home.

Neither of the victims were in the car when it was brought to the surface by a salvage tug. Two such tugs rushed to the scene shortly after the accident and a diver succeeded in hooking a line to the submerged vehicle.

Several eyewitnesses aboard the ferry at the West Shore railroad terminal here said the car failed to stop when it approached the gate and crashed through. It drifted almost 100 feet before sinking, they added. The mishap occurred at 12:25 a. m.

The ferry, the Utica, was due to leave for New York city. Police said the car bore New Jersey plates.

Attempts to recover the submerged vehicle and its unidentified occupants continued throughout the night.

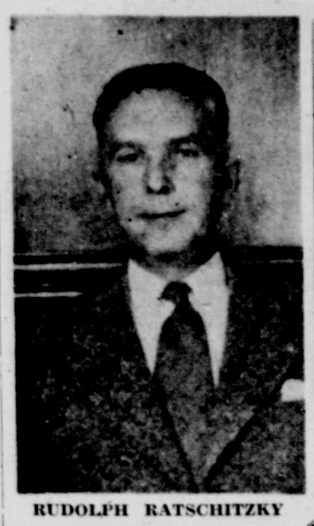
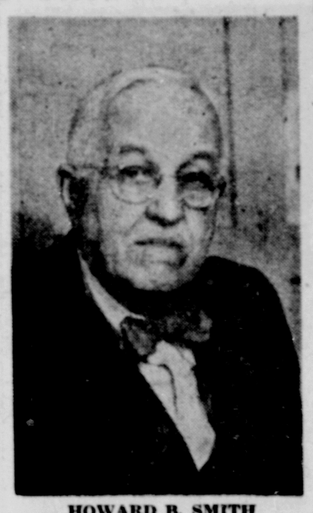
Five Promotions Announced at Electrol



RUDOLPH RATSCHITZKY

G. D. LOGAN



HOWARD B. SMITH

Fletcher Named Ashton Assistant; 4 Vice Presidents

An assistant to the president and four vice presidents have been appointed by B. N. Ashton, president of Electrol, Incorporated, the firm announced today.

The hydraulics industry at 85 Grand street employs 750 people with over 90 per cent coming from the city of Kingston, and has a payroll of more than two million dollars a year.

Victor E. Fletcher, present assistant secretary of the corporation, has been named to the post of assistant to the president. Fletcher began his association with Electrol on April 27, 1942, in the factory management department, later transferring to time study. For five years he was chief estimator and confidential secretary to Mr. Ashton, and in August, 1951, was made assistant secretary of the corporation.

New Vice Presidents

The vice presidents appointed were Edmund D. Holland, George D. Logan, Rudolph Ratschitzky and Howard B. Smith.

Holland joined the Electrol staff on December 16, 1940, as engineering checker. He worked in that capacity for the U. S. Navy from August, 1942, to May, 1946, when he became project engineer. In November, 1950, he became assistant to the factory manager, and on May 1, 1951, he was named manager of engineering and development.

G. D. Logan came to Electrol on July 23, 1941, as night factory superintendent. He later was promoted to production control manager and has been factory manager since November 1, 1944.

Came From England

R. Ratschitzky, present secretary-treasurer of the corporation, came to Electrol in December, 1945, from the Union Fork and Hoe Company, Columbus, Ohio. He came to this country from England in 1944.

H. B. Smith, previously with Grumman, has been sales manager since coming with Electrol on April 15, 1946.

The largest industrial plant within the corporate limits of the city of Kingston, Electrol, Inc., manufactures hydraulic landing gears for supersonic rocket craft, helicopters, tri-phibious Grumman rescue ships and the new jet F-84 Thunderjets and F2H2 Banshee.

Two Million Payroll

The present plant, with its payroll of better than two million dollars a year, was originally used for the manufacture of Apollo Magneto electrical equipment and later the Electrol Oil Burner. About ten years ago the manufacture of hydraulic equipment was begun. Today, approximately 50 per cent of plant income is derived from the manufacture of landing gears and the other 50 per cent from other hydraulic equipment such as hand pumps, four-way selector valves, speed control valves. The rapid growth is an indication of the possibilities which will be synonymous with development of hydraulics in industry.

Any civic organization may visit the plant upon certification by the security officer. It has been Electrol's policy to greet all cordially and a qualified guide is always available for any groups interested in visiting the plant.

Town of Hurley Forms Taxpayers Association

Efforts are being made to form a taxpayers association in the town of Hurley, it was learned today.

A group of persons meeting Monday night at the Spillway Road Schoolhouse elected Philip Metzger of the Spillway road as temporary chairman and set March 10 as the date for a second meeting, at which permanent officers will be elected. The name, Town of Hurley Taxpayers Association, was selected to designate the organization.

A member of the group said today that 46 persons were enrolled as members at Monday night's meeting.

The group gave as reasons for organizing a felt need for "more adequate representation of outlying communities of the town of Hurley in town affairs," and the recent voting for new fire equipment and combination fire house and recreation center in West Hurley, which, they contended, has brought protests that "less haste and more attendant publicity would have been in order." A number of taxpayers claimed they did not know of the ballot in time to attend the voting.

Will Move Offices

Albany, N. Y., March 4 (AP)—The State Conservation Department will move its field offices for the eastern Adirondacks from Saranac Lake to Raybrook. J. Victor Skiff, deputy commissioner, said yesterday the department hoped to start building a $30,000 log structure this year. The new building will house offices of the district forester, game protector and fish and game managers.

interfering too much in Europe but adds that "we can't do without American aid."

Though De Gaulle himself could not be in a cabinet—he is not a member of the National Assembly—there were persistent rumors that he is seeking a meeting with President Vincent Auriol, who nominates premiers.

These reports said De Gaulle wanted the meeting away from the publicity-surrounded presidential residence, the Elysee Palace. But Auriol reportedly was making no concessions to the general. The president, it was said, would have the meeting at the palace or not at all.

Actress Una Merkel's Plight Blamed on Pills

Santa Monica, Calif., March 4 (AP)—Actress Una Merkel is in St. John's Hospital suffering from what her doctor says was "probaby an overdose of sleeping pills."

"She is pretty sick," Dr. Roy T. McReynolds said last night, "but I think she will pull through."

Miss Merkel, 48-year-old veteran of stage and screen, was found in a coma yesterday by a nurse who had been attending her during a siege of influenza. Her condition was at first described as critical.

Dr. McReynolds, who had been treating her for influenza, said he had not prescribed sleeping pills but added that he found an empty seconal bottle in her apartment.

The actress narrowly escaped death in 1945 when she and her mother, Mrs. Arno Merkel, were overcome by gas fumes in a New York apartment. Mrs. Merkel was found dead and police listed it as suicide.

Hint to Motorists

The oil filter not only cleans the lubricant, but also helps to cool it, reducing consumption. For the sake of economy, therefore, it should be replaced when it becomes clogged.

Suspect Throttled

This exceptional picture was made by Ferdinand Kasprzak, commercial photographer, as the lone gunman who police said held up Sattler's deparment store in Buffalo was captured and disarmed outside store. Left to right are Sattler doorman John Burke, holding gun; John Barker, store detective; Phil Saturen, a buyer; Arthur S. Noworyta, the alleged thief, and Gail Zenner, an ex-Marine who captured him. Water Follies Are Booked by Firemen In Place of Ball

The Uniformed Firemen's Association of this city will sponsor the Sam Snyder Water Follies of 1952 for a three-day stand in July, in place of its annual St. Patrick's Day Ball, it was announced today by Howard Whitaker, president.

In announcing cancellation of the March 17 ball and stage show, President Whitaker said the association, Local 461 of the UFA, was unable at this time to secure a good name band and "felt it would be better to cancel our ball and not to disappoint our good friends."

At the same time, he announced the signing of the Sam Snyder Water Follies of 1952, billed as "The World's Largest Aquacade." The municipal stadium has been secured for July 3, 4 and 5 for afternoon and evening performances. The combined water-stage show features divers and swimmers using their own portable 80,000-gallon pool.

The show has been signed "in conjunction with the celebration of Kingston's 300th Anniversary, Whitaker said.

Artificial Breeders To Meet Thursday

The Eighth annual meeting of the Ulster County Artificial Breeding Cooperative, Inc., will be held Thursday, March 6, at the Methodist Church hall on Main street, New Paltz, beginning at 8 p. m.

Professor K. L. Turk, head of the animal husbandry department of Cornell University, will be the speaker. He will use colored slides to illustrate his observations on farming in Europe during his travels there last summer.

Association business to be covered includes reports on the past year's growth, the financial condition, and the election of two directors. Refreshments will be provided by the Cooperative.

'Sheik's' Trial March 10

New York, March 4 (AP)—The trial of Rosario ("Frank the Shiek") Tornello, described by the U. S. attorney's office as a narcotics law violator "with unlimited funds," was postponed yesterday until March 10 by Federal Judge William Bondy. Tornello, 53 years old, was indicted last summer and charged with being "connected with the top French and Italian sources of narcotics illegally being shipped into the United States." He is being held in $50,000 bail.

Easier for Maintenance Men in National Guard

The new hydraulic dual lift in the recently constructed building in the rear of the 156th Field Artillery armory, Manor avenue, makes it easier for members of the Service Battery to take care of their trucks. Sgt. Robert Stewart, left, replaces axle, while two and a half ton vehicle is on lift, and Sgt. Kenneth Blanschan greases chasis. (Freeman photo)

Faulty Flaps Blamed

Nice, France, March 4 (AP)—Officials concluded today that faulty flaps combined with a double engine failure caused yesterday's plane crash here which took the lives of 37 persons. They discarded a theory that the plane was downed by a flight of seagulls. An investigation of the wreckage of the Air France airliner showed that the ailerons were not in a position to give a lift to the craft. With an experienced pilot at the controls, it was assumed that he had sought to put his flaps in such a position.

Cotton Probe

Washington, March 4 (AP)—The Agriculture Department said today it is checking into published reports that an Egyptian firm sold cotton to the U. S. government on the basis of "inside information" which permitted it to make considerable money. Also, an aide to Senator Stennis (D-Miss.) said the senator has asked government agencies about "rumors that some people made a considerable amount of money in stockpiling of long-staple Egyptian cotton."

100 Die in Train Crash

Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, March 4 (AP)—More than 100 persons were killed in a train collision near here today. About 200 suffered injuries. The wreck was the worst in Brazil's history. A train crowded with commuters coming into Rio de Janeiro crashed into a stalled passenger train near the suburb of Anchieta, about 19 miles southwest of the capital. Bodies were strewn about the wreckage and some were seen floating in the nearby Pavuna river.

Pilot Identified

Tokyo, March 4 (AP)—Far East Air Forces Headquarters today identified a Mount Vernon, N. Y., pilot and five other airmen missing since their B-29 weather reconnaissance plane exploded and crashed into the Pacific northwest of Guam Feb. 26. Four of the plane's 10-man crew were rescued. The pilot was identified as Lt. Walter Kreuger, 20 Explanade avenue, Mount Vernon, N. Y.

Takes Her Money

New York, Mar. 4 (AP)—A woman cashier lost $4,200 to a robber in busy Rockefeller Center—and nobody noticed a thing amiss. Miss Elaine Feinster, restaurant cashier, was en route to a bank yesterday, she said, when a man accosted her, his hand thrust in his pocket as though holding a gun. He ordered her into the side entrance of the Associate Press building and took an envelope from her. It contained $3,600 in cash, $400 in defense bonds and a $200 check. Then, Miss Feinster said, he ordered her into an elevator which took her to the second floor as he escaped.

Bomb Frontlines

Seoul, Korea, March 4 (AP)—United Nations fighter pilots bombed and machinegunned frontline positions today while the opposing ground armies sent out only light patrols. Marine Corsairs killed 20 Communists north of Kumhwa on the central front. Other UN fighter-bombers killed about 25 Reds in the Yonchon area on the western front. Both ruined towns are in sectors where ground fighting picked up briefly last weekend. Twenty-eight U. S. Sabre jets damaged one MIG-15 in a five-minute brush with 50 of the Russian-built jets near the Yalu river boundary between Korea and Manchuria.

Tankers Collide

Norfolk, Va., March 4 (AP)—Two tankers collided today in Chesapeake Bay about seven miles northeast of Smith Point, the coast guard reported. Smith Point is near the mouth of the Potomac river and about 50 miles north of Norfolk.

fairly steady since ceilings were imposed; yet industrial output last year rose 10 per cent, the number of business firms in existence rose, and corporate profits were twice those of 1940.

The changeover to defense work has caused some "trouble spots" he conceded—joblessness in a number of communities, industries hurt by scarcities, and cities unable to meet their needs for schools, roads, hospitals and other facilities.

"We are doing our best to solve these problems," Wilson said. "But there will be no single date on which we will suddenly have relief from the difficulties."

And, he added, while the easing of steel, copper and aluminum shortages has helped such situations, some other materials are becoming scarcer.

The Banking Committee, headed by Senator Maybank (D.-S.C.) anticipated that demands from witnesses would range all the way from appeals to junk the entire controls program to those for tightening of the laws.

Red Cross Drive

gram for service men in Korea, the Red Cross has a wide program of services to local people. It is the connecting link between the service man away and his family at home. In time of disaster the Red Cross stands ready to give immediate aid and assist in rehabilitation. This was demonstrated in Ulster county recently when great damage was suffered in the Esopus valley by floods. The Home Service Department has been described as "the link between the GI and his family."

To continue all of these services every citizen of the county is urged to make a contribution to the Red Cross fund when the volunteer worker calls during the Fund Appeal campaign this month.
